Rule 45, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Subdivisions (c), (d), and (e), as amended on December 1, 2006:

(c) PROTECTION OF PERSONS SUBJECT TO SUBPOENAS.

(1) A party or an attorney responsible for the issuance and service of a subpoena shall take reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to that subpoena. The court on behalf of which the subpoena was issued shall enforce this duty and impose upon the party or attorney in breach of this duty an appropriate sanction, which may include, but is not limited to, lost earnings and a reasonable attorney's fee.

(2) (A) A person commanded to produce and permit inspection, copying, testing, or sampling of designated electronically stored information, books, papers, documents or tangible things, or inspection of premises need not appear in person at the place of production or inspection unless commanded to appear for deposition, hearing or trial.

(B) Subject to paragraph (d)(2) of this rule, a person commanded to produce and permit inspection, copying, testing, or sampling may, within 14 days after service of the subpoena or before the time specified for compliance if such time is less than 14 days after service, serve upon the party or attorney designated in the subpoena written objection to producing any or all of the designated materials or inspection of the premises — or to producing electronically stored information in the form or forms requested. If objection is made, the party serving the subpoena shall not be entitled to inspect, copy, test, or sample the materials or inspect the premises except pursuant to an order of the court by which the subpoena was issued. If objection has been made, the party serving the subpoena may, upon notice to the person commanded to produce, move at any time for an order to compel the production, inspection, copying, testing, or sampling. Such an order to compel shall protect any person who is not a party or an officer of a party from significant expense resulting from the inspection, copying, testing, or sampling commanded.

(3) (A) On timely motion, the court by which a subpoena was issued shall quash or modify the subpoena if it

(i) fails to allow reasonable time for compliance;

(ii) requires a person who is not a party or an officer of a party to travel to a place more than 100 miles from the place where that person resides, is employed or regularly transacts business in person, except that, subject to the provisions of clause (c)(3)(B)(iii) of this rule, such a person may in order to attend trial be commanded to travel from any such place within the state in which the trial is held;

(iii) requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter and no exception or waiver applies; or

(iv) subjects a person to undue burden.

(B) If a subpoena

(i) requires disclosure of a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information, or

(ii) requires disclosure of an unretained expert's opinion or information not describing specific events or occurrences in dispute and resulting from the expert's study made not at the request of any party, or

(iii) requires a person who is not a party or an officer of a party to incur substantial expense to travel more than 100 miles to attend trial, the court may, to protect a person subject to or affected by the subpoena, quash or modify the subpoena or, if the party in whose behalf the subpoena is issued shows a substantial need for the testimony or material that cannot be otherwise met without undue hardship and assures that the person to whom the subpoena is addressed will be reasonably compensated, the court may order appearance or production only upon specified conditions.

(d) DUTIES IN RESPONDING TO SUBPOENA.

(1) (A) A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents shall produce them as they are kept in the usual course of business or shall organize and label them to correspond with the categories in the demand.

(B) If a subpoena does not specify the form or forms for producing electronically stored information, a person responding to a subpoena must produce the information in a form or forms in which the person ordinarily maintains it or in a form or forms that are reasonably usable.

(C) A person responding to a subpoena need not produce the same electronically stored information in more than one form.

(D) A person responding to a subpoena need not provide discovery of electronically stored information from sources that the person identifies as not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. On motion to compel discovery or to quash, the person from whom discovery is sought must show that the information sought is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. If that showing is made, the court may nonetheless order discovery from such sources if the requesting party shows good cause, considering the limitations of Rule 26(b)(2)(C). The court may specify conditions for the discovery.

(2) (A) When information subject to a subpoena is withheld on a claim that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial-preparation materials, the claim shall be made expressly and shall be supported by a description of the nature of the documents, communications, or things not produced that is sufficient to enable the demanding party to contest the claim.

(B) If information is produced in response to a subpoena that is subject to a claim of privilege or of protection as trial-preparation material, the person making the claim may notify any party that received the information of the claim and the basis for it. After being notified, a party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy the specified information and any copies it has and may not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved. A receiving party may promptly present the information to the court under seal for a determination of the claim. If the receiving party disclosed the information before being notified, it must take reasonable steps to retrieve it. The person who produced the information must preserve the information until the claim is resolved.

(e) CONTEMPT. Failure of any person without adequate excuse to obey a subpoena served upon that person may be deemed a contempt of the court from which the subpoena issued. An adequate cause for failure to obey exists when a subpoena purports to require a nonparty to attend or produce at a place not within the limits provided by clause (ii) of subparagraph (c)(3)(A).

EXHIBIT A

INSTRUCTIONS

1. In responding to the present subpoena, you are required to furnish such information as is available to you that is within your possession custody or control, including but not limited to information in the possession of your agents, representatives, or any other person or persons acting on your behalf.

2. If you have no writings, recordings, documents, or other information responsive to a particular category, please state so in writing. Additionally, if you have documents responsive to a particular category which you claim are privileged, please state so in writing and please produce all non-privileged documents. For each document you claim as privileged, please state: (i) the type of privilege you claim; (ii) the nature of the document (e.g. letter, memorandum, notes, etc.); (iii) its date; (iv) its author(s) and recipient(s), if any; and (v) the identity of each and every person, other than the identified author(s) or recipient(s), who was sent or provided with the document or a portion of the document.

DEFINITIONS

3. "Apple Inc.," "you" or "your" refer to Apple Inc. and includes (a) any of its divisions, departments, offices, subsidiaries, agents; (b) all companies, corporations, or partnerships that are predecessors-in-interest or successors-in-interest of Apple Inc.; (c) all companies, corporations, partnerships, associations, or other business entities which are or have been under common ownership or control, in any manner, with Apple Inc.; and (d) each of the present and former officer, directors, employees, agents, consultants, independent contractors, attorneys, representatives, or other persons acting or purporting to act on behalf of the foregoing entity, or on whose behalf the foregoing entity acted or purported to act.

4. "LGD" refers to LG Display Co., Ltd. (formerly known as LG.Philips LCD Co., Ltd.) and includes (a) any of its divisions, departments, offices, subsidiaries, agents; (b) all companies, corporations, or partnerships that are predecessors-in-interest or successors-in-interest of LGD;

 (c) all companies through which LGD markets or distributes its LCD Modules in the United States, including without limitation LGDA; (d) all companies, corporations, partnerships, associations, or other business entities which are or have been under common ownership or control, in any manner, with LGD; and (e) each of the present and former officer, directors, employees, agents, consultants, independent contractors, attorneys, representatives, or other persons acting or purporting to act on behalf of the foregoing entity, or on whose behalf the foregoing entity acted or purported to act.

5. "LGDA" refers to LG Display America, Inc. (formerly known as LG.Philips LCD America, Inc.) and includes (a) any of its divisions, departments, offices, subsidiaries, agents; (b) all companies, corporations, or partnerships that are predecessors-in-interest or successors-in-interest of LGDA; (c) all companies through which LGDA markets or distributes its LCD Modules in the United States, including without limitation LGD; (d) all companies, corporations, partnerships, associations, or other business entities which are or have been under common ownership or control, in any manner, with LGDA; and (e) each of the present and former officer, directors, employees, agents, consultants, independent contractors, attorneys, representatives, or other persons acting or purporting to act on behalf of the foregoing entity, or on whose behalf the foregoing entity acted or purported to act.

6. The term "LCD Modules" shall refer to any liquid crystal display ("LCD") module(s) designed, produced, manufactured, sold or offered for sale by, or purchased or otherwise obtained from, or imported on behalf of, LGD and/or LGDA, including but not limited to, modules used in or incorporated into televisions, monitors, computers, mobile phones, portable audio/video devices, automotive devices, industrial, or medical devices, regardless of brand. The term "LCD Modules" also includes but is not limited to any custom or special order modules designed, produced, manufactured, sold or offered for sale by LGD and/or LGDA.

7. The term "LCD Product" means any device or product that contains an LCD Module. An LCD computer monitor, LCD television, laptop computer, a telephone or other portable or handheld product incorporating an LCD module, and equipment that incorporates an LCD Module are examples of LCD Products. This includes all such devices, regardless of brand name.

8. The term “communications” refers to any form of interpersonal communication, including without limitation any transmission, conveyance, or exchange of word, statement, fact, thing, idea, document, instrument, data, or information, by any medium whether written, verbal, non-verbal or any other means, including without limitation electronic communications and e-mails.

9. The term “person” refers to any natural person, company, corporation, partnership, firm, association, government agency or other organization cognizable at law, and its agents and employees.

10. The term “document” shall have the broadest scope permissible under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and includes, for example, all writings, drawings, graphs, charts, photographs, phono-records, schematics, layouts, specifications, data sheets, application notes, marketing presentations and materials, internal presentations, design reports, hardware source code (including, for example, verilog), software source code (including, for example, firmware), pseudocode, timing diagrams, waveform diagrams, test reports, customer complaints and responses, engineering change notices, modification histories, white papers, assembly diagrams, assembly drawings, and assembly instructions, whether or not such documents are claimed to be privileged or confidential, and within the Defendant’s possession, custody, or control as set forth in Rule 34(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. The term “document” also refers, in addition to the original or original copy, to all copies of any kind that contain any alteration, marking, or omission, or which in any other way are not identical to the original or original copy and all drafts or notes made in the preparation of each document. The term “document” shall further refer to and include all electronic data (including, for example, executable files) in whatever form it may exist.

11. The term “thing” encompasses without limitation all tangible things which constitute or contain matters within the scope of Rule 26(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and which are in the possession, custody, or control of the Defendant as set forth in Rule 34(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

12. The term “identify” as used herein shall refer to the following: (a) With respect to a natural person to provide: full name; present or last known business address and telephone number; present or last known residential address and telephone number; and occupation and business position or title held; (b) With respect to a legal or business entity, to provide: full name; place of incorporation or organization (if any); principal place of business; and identification of any representative of such entity who has knowledge relating to any information in connection with which such entity has been identified; (c) With respect to any document or thing, to provide: the date the document or thing bears or was prepared or transmitted; the identity of each person who authored, signed, created or prepared the document or thing; the identity of each addressee and recipient of the document or thing; its title and general character (subject matter); the number of pages in the document; the identity of the persons having possession, custody or control of the original or copies of the document or thing; the present location of the document or thing; and for each document or thing that you contend is privileged, immune or otherwise excludable from discovery, the basis for such claim of privilege, immunity or exclusion (in sufficient detail for the Court to rule on such claim) and whether you would be willing to produce such document or portions of such document under a suitable protective order.

13. The terms “relating to,” “relate to,” and “related to” mean pertaining to, alluding to, responding to, referring to, commenting on, regarding, recording, evidencing, containing, setting forth, reflecting, illustrating, showing, discussing, disclosing, describing, explaining, summarizing, supporting, contradicting, refuting, or concerning, whether directly or indirectly.

14. The use of the singular form of any word includes the plural, and vice versa, as necessary to bring within the scope of the following requests all information which might otherwise be construed to be outside its scope.

15. The terms “or” as well as “and” shall be construed disjunctively as well as conjunctively as necessary to bring within the scope of the following requests all information which might otherwise be construed to be outside its scope.

16. The term “including” as used herein is not be interpreted as limiting the request and to the contrary is intended to indicate specific examples without limitation.

Rule 45, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Subdivisions (c), (d), and (e), as amended on December 1, 2006:

(c) PROTECTION OF PERSONS SUBJECT TO SUBPOENAS.

(1) A party or an attorney responsible for the issuance and service of a subpoena shall take reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to that subpoena. The court on behalf of which the subpoena was issued shall enforce this duty and impose upon the party or attorney in breach of this duty an appropriate sanction, which may include, but is not limited to, lost earnings and a reasonable attorney's fee.

(2) (A) A person commanded to produce and permit inspection, copying, testing, or sampling of designated electronically stored information, books, papers, documents or tangible things, or inspection of premises need not appear in person at the place of production or inspection unless commanded to appear for deposition, hearing or trial.

(B) Subject to paragraph (d)(2) of this rule, a person commanded to produce and permit inspection, copying, testing, or sampling may, within 14 days after service of the subpoena or before the time specified for compliance if such time is less than 14 days after service, serve upon the party or attorney designated in the subpoena written objection to producing any or all of the designated materials or inspection of the premises — or to producing electronically stored information in the form or forms requested. If objection is made, the party serving the subpoena shall not be entitled to inspect, copy, test, or sample the materials or inspect the premises except pursuant to an order of the court by which the subpoena was issued. If objection has been made, the party serving the subpoena may, upon notice to the person commanded to produce, move at any time for an order to compel the production, inspection, copying, testing, or sampling. Such an order to compel shall protect any person who is not a party or an officer of a party from significant expense resulting from the inspection, copying, testing, or sampling commanded.

(3) (A) On timely motion, the court by which a subpoena was issued shall quash or modify the subpoena if it

(i) fails to allow reasonable time for compliance;

(ii) requires a person who is not a party or an officer of a party to travel to a place more than 100 miles from the place where that person resides, is employed or regularly transacts business in person, except that, subject to the provisions of clause (c)(3)(B)(iii) of this rule, such a person may in order to attend trial be commanded to travel from any such place within the state in which the trial is held;

(iii) requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter and no exception or waiver applies; or

(iv) subjects a person to undue burden.

(B) If a subpoena

(i) requires disclosure of a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information, or

(ii) requires disclosure of an unretained expert's opinion or information not describing specific events or occurrences in dispute and resulting from the expert's study made not at the request of any party, or

(iii) requires a person who is not a party or an officer of a party to incur substantial expense to travel more than 100 miles to attend trial, the court may, to protect a person subject

to or affected by the subpoena, quash or modify the subpoena or, if the party in whose behalf the subpoena is issued shows a substantial need for the testimony or material that cannot be otherwise met without undue hardship and assures that the person to whom the subpoena is addressed will be reasonably compensated, the court may order appearance or production only upon specified conditions.

(d) DUTIES IN RESPONDING TO SUBPOENA.

(1) (A) A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents shall produce them as they are kept in the usual course of business or shall organize and label them to correspond with the categories in the demand.

(B) If a subpoena does not specify the form or forms for producing electronically stored information, a person responding to a subpoena must produce the information in a form or forms in which the person ordinarily maintains it or in a form or forms that are reasonably usable.

(C) A person responding to a subpoena need not produce the same electronically stored information in more than one form.

(D) A person responding to a subpoena need not provide discovery of electronically stored information from sources that the person identifies as not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. On motion to compel discovery or to quash, the person from whom discovery is sought must show that the information sought is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. If that showing is made, the court may nonetheless order discovery from such sources if the requesting party shows good cause, considering the limitations of Rule 26(b)(2)(C). The court may specify conditions for the discovery.

(2) (A) When information subject to a subpoena is withheld on a claim that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial-preparation materials, the claim shall be made expressly and shall be supported by a description of the nature of the documents, communications, or things not produced that is sufficient to enable the demanding party to contest the claim.

(B) If information is produced in response to a subpoena that is subject to a claim of privilege or of protection as trial-preparation material, the person making the claim may notify any party that received the information of the claim and the basis for it. After being notified, a party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy the specified information and any copies it has and may not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved. A receiving party may promptly present the information to the court under seal for a determination of the claim. If the receiving party disclosed the information before being notified, it must take reasonable steps to retrieve it. The person who produced the information must preserve the information until the claim is resolved.

(e) CONTEMPT. Failure of any person without adequate excuse to obey a subpoena served upon that person may be deemed a contempt of the court from which the subpoena issued. An adequate cause for failure to obey exists when a subpoena purports to require a nonparty to attend or produce at a place not within the limits provided by clause (ii) of subparagraph (c)(3)(A).

EXHIBIT A

INSTRUCTIONS

1. In responding to the present subpoena, you are required to furnish such information as is available to you that is within your possession custody or control, including but not limited to information in the possession of your agents, representatives, or any other person or persons acting on your behalf.

2. If you have no writings, recordings, documents, or other information responsive to a particular category, please state so in writing. Additionally, if you have documents responsive to a particular category which you claim are privileged, please state so in writing and please produce all non-privileged documents. For each document you claim as privileged, please state: (i) the type of privilege you claim; (ii) the nature of the document (e.g. letter, memorandum, notes, etc.); (iii) its date; (iv) its author(s) and recipient(s), if any; and (v) the identity of each and every person, other than the identified author(s) or recipient(s), who was sent or provided with the document or a portion of the document.

DEFINITIONS

3. "Best Buy Co., Inc.," "you" or "your" refer to Best Buy Co., Inc. and includes (a) any of its divisions, departments, offices, subsidiaries, agents; (b) all companies, corporations, or partnerships that are predecessors-in-interest or successors-in-interest of Best Buy Co., Inc.; (c) all companies, corporations, partnerships, associations, or other business entities which are or have been under common ownership or control, in any manner, with Best Buy Co., Inc.; and (d) each of the present and former officer, directors, employees, agents, consultants, independent contractors, attorneys, representatives, or other persons acting or purporting to act on behalf of the foregoing entity, or on whose behalf the foregoing entity acted or purported to act.

4. "LGD" refers to LG Display Co., Ltd. (formerly known as LG.Philips LCD Co., Ltd.) and includes (a) any of its divisions, departments, offices, subsidiaries, agents; (b) all companies, corporations, or partnerships that are predecessors-in-interest or successors-in-interest of LGD; (c) all companies through which LGD markets or distributes its LCD Modules in the United States, including without limitation LGDA; (d) all companies, corporations, partnerships, associations, or other business entities which are or have been under common ownership or control, in any manner, with LGD; and (e) each of the present and former officer, directors, employees, agents, consultants, independent contractors, attorneys, representatives, or other persons acting or purporting to act on behalf of the foregoing entity, or on whose behalf the foregoing entity acted or purported to act.

5. "LGDA" refers to LG Display America, Inc. (formerly known as LG.Philips LCD America, Inc.) and includes (a) any of its divisions, departments, offices, subsidiaries, agents; (b) all companies, corporations, or partnerships that are predecessors-in-interest or successors-in-interest of LGDA; (c) all companies through which LGDA markets or distributes its LCD Modules in the United States, including without limitation LGD; (d) all companies, corporations, partnerships, associations, or other business entities which are or have been under common ownership or control, in any manner, with LGDA; and (e) each of the present and former officer, directors, employees, agents, consultants, independent contractors, attorneys, representatives, or other persons acting or purporting to act on behalf of the foregoing entity, or on whose behalf the foregoing entity acted or purported to act.

6. The term "LCD Modules" shall refer to any liquid crystal display ("LCD") module(s) designed, produced, manufactured, sold or offered for sale by, or purchased or otherwise obtained from, or imported on behalf of, LGD and/or LGDA, including but not limited to, modules used in or incorporated into televisions, monitors, computers, mobile phones, portable audio/video devices, automotive devices, industrial, or medical devices, regardless of brand. The term "LCD Modules" also includes but is not limited to any custom or special order modules designed, produced, manufactured, sold or offered for sale by LGD and/or LGDA.

7. The term "LCD Product" means any device or product that contains an LCD Module. An LCD computer monitor, LCD television, laptop computer, a telephone or other portable or handheld product incorporating an LCD module, and equipment that incorporates an LCD Module are examples of LCD Products. This includes all such devices, regardless of brand name.

8. The term “communications” refers to any form of interpersonal communication, including without limitation any transmission, conveyance, or exchange of word, statement, fact, thing, idea, document, instrument, data, or information, by any medium whether written, verbal, non-verbal or any other means, including without limitation electronic communications and e-mails.

9. The term “person” refers to any natural person, company, corporation, partnership, firm, association, government agency or other organization cognizable at law, and its agents and employees.

10. The term “document” shall have the broadest scope permissible under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and includes, for example, all writings, drawings, graphs, charts, photographs, phono-records, schematics, layouts, specifications, data sheets, application notes, marketing presentations and materials, internal presentations, design reports, hardware source code (including, for example, verilog), software source code (including, for example, firmware), pseudocode, timing diagrams, waveform diagrams, test reports, customer complaints and responses, engineering change notices, modification histories, white papers, assembly diagrams, assembly drawings, and assembly instructions, whether or not such documents are claimed to be privileged or confidential, and within the Defendant’s possession, custody, or control as set forth in Rule 34(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. The term “document” also refers, in addition to the original or original copy, to all copies of any kind that contain any alteration, marking, or omission, or which in any other way are not identical to the original or original copy and all drafts or notes made in the preparation of each document. The term “document” shall further refer to and include all electronic data (including, for example, executable files) in whatever form it may exist.

11. The term “thing” encompasses without limitation all tangible things which constitute or contain matters within the scope of Rule 26(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and which are in the possession, custody, or control of the Defendant as set forth in Rule 34(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

12. The term “identify” as used herein shall refer to the following: (a) With respect to a natural person to provide: full name; present or last known business address and telephone number; present or last known residential address and telephone number; and occupation and business position or title held; (b) With respect to a legal or business entity, to provide: full name; place of incorporation or organization (if any); principal place of business; and identification of any representative of such entity who has knowledge relating to any information in connection with which such entity has been identified; (c) With respect to any document or thing, to provide: the date the document or thing bears or was prepared or transmitted; the identity of each person who authored, signed, created or prepared the document or thing; the identity of each addressee and recipient of the document or thing; its title and general character (subject matter); the number of pages in the document; the identity of the persons having possession, custody or control of the original or copies of the document or thing; the present location of the document or thing; and for each document or thing that you contend is privileged, immune or otherwise excludable from discovery, the basis for such claim of privilege, immunity or exclusion (in sufficient detail for the Court to rule on such claim) and whether you would be willing to produce such document or portions of such document under a suitable protective order.

13. The terms “relating to,” “relate to,” and “related to” mean pertaining to, alluding to, responding to, referring to, commenting on, regarding, recording, evidencing, containing, setting forth, reflecting, illustrating, showing, discussing, disclosing, describing, explaining, summarizing, supporting, contradicting, refuting, or concerning, whether directly or indirectly.

14. The use of the singular form of any word includes the plural, and vice versa, as necessary to bring within the scope of the following requests all information which might otherwise be construed to be outside its scope.

15. The terms “or” as well as “and” shall be construed disjunctively as well as conjunctively as necessary to bring within the scope of the following requests all information which might otherwise be construed to be outside its scope.

16. The term “including” as used herein is not be interpreted as limiting the request and to the contrary is intended to indicate specific examples without limitation.

(c) PROTECTION OF PERSONS SUBJECT TO SUBPOENAS.

(1) A party or an attorney responsible for the issuance and service of a subpoena shall take reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to that subpoena. The court on behalf of which the subpoena was issued shall enforce this duty and impose upon the party or attorney in breach of this duty an appropriate sanction, which may include, but is not limited to, lost earnings and a reasonable attorney's fee.

(2) (A) A person commanded to produce and permit inspection, copying, testing, or sampling of designated electronically stored information, books, papers, documents or tangible things, or inspection of premises need not appear in person at the place of production or inspection unless commanded to appear for deposition, hearing or trial.

(B) Subject to paragraph (d)(2) of this rule, a person commanded to produce and permit inspection, copying, testing, or sampling may, within 14 days after service of the subpoena or before the time specified for compliance if such time is less than 14 days after service, serve upon the party or attorney designated in the subpoena written objection to producing any or all of the designated materials or inspection of the premises — or to producing electronically stored information in the form or forms requested. If objection is made, the party serving the subpoena shall not be entitled to inspect, copy, test, or sample the materials or inspect the premises except pursuant to an order of the court by which the subpoena was issued. If objection has been made, the party serving the subpoena may, upon notice to the person commanded to produce, move at any time for an order to compel the production, inspection, copying, testing, or sampling. Such an order to compel shall protect any person who is not a party or an officer of a party from significant expense resulting from the inspection, copying, testing, or sampling commanded.

(3) (A) On timely motion, the court by which a subpoena was issued shall quash or modify the subpoena if it

(i) fails to allow reasonable time for compliance;

(ii) requires a person who is not a party or an officer of a party to travel to a place more than 100 miles from the place where that person resides, is employed or regularly transacts business in person, except that, subject to the provisions of clause (c)(3)(B)(iii) of this rule, such a person may in order to attend trial be commanded to travel from any such place within the state in which the trial is held;

(iii) requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter and no exception or waiver applies; or

(iv) subjects a person to undue burden.

(B) If a subpoena

(i) requires disclosure of a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information, or

(ii) requires disclosure of an unretained expert's opinion or information not describing specific events or occurrences in dispute and resulting from the expert's study made not at the request of any party, or

(iii) requires a person who is not a party or an officer of a party to incur substantial expense to travel more than 100 miles to attend trial, the court may, to protect a person subject

to or affected by the subpoena, quash or modify the subpoena or, if the party in whose behalf the subpoena is issued shows a substantial need for the testimony or material that cannot be otherwise met without undue hardship and assures that the person to whom the subpoena is addressed will be reasonably compensated, the court may order appearance or production only upon specified conditions.

(d) DUTIES IN RESPONDING TO SUBPOENA.

(1) (A) A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents shall produce them as they are kept in the usual course of business or shall organize and label them to correspond with the categories in the demand.

(B) If a subpoena does not specify the form or forms for producing electronically stored information, a person responding to a subpoena must produce the information in a form or forms in which the person ordinarily maintains it or in a form or forms that are reasonably usable.

(C) A person responding to a subpoena need not produce the same electronically stored information in more than one form.

(D) A person responding to a subpoena need not provide discovery of electronically stored information from sources that the person identifies as not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. On motion to compel discovery or to quash, the person from whom discovery is sought must show that the information sought is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. If that showing is made, the court may nonetheless order discovery from such sources if the requesting party shows good cause, considering the limitations of Rule 26(b)(2)(C). The court may specify conditions for the discovery.

(2) (A) When information subject to a subpoena is withheld on a claim that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial-preparation materials, the claim shall be made expressly and shall be supported by a description of the nature of the documents, communications, or things not produced that is sufficient to enable the demanding party to contest the claim.

(B) If information is produced in response to a subpoena that is subject to a claim of privilege or of protection as trial-preparation material, the person making the claim may notify any party that received the information of the claim and the basis for it. After being notified, a party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy the specified information and any copies it has and may not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved. A receiving party may promptly present the information to the court under seal for a determination of the claim. If the receiving party disclosed the information before being notified, it must take reasonable steps to retrieve it. The person who produced the information must preserve the information until the claim is resolved.

(e) CONTEMPT. Failure of any person without adequate excuse to obey a subpoena served upon that person may be deemed a contempt of the court from which the subpoena issued. An adequate cause for failure to obey exists when a subpoena purports to require a nonparty to attend or produce at a place not within the limits provided by clause (ii) of subparagraph (c)(3)(A).

EXHIBIT A

INSTRUCTIONS

1. In responding to the present subpoena, you are required to furnish such information as is available to you that is within your possession custody or control, including but not limited to information in the possession of your agents, representatives, or any other person or persons acting on your behalf.

2. If you have no writings, recordings, documents, or other information responsive to a particular category, please state so in writing. Additionally, if you have documents responsive to a particular category which you claim are privileged, please state so in writing and please produce all non-privileged documents. For each document you claim as privileged, please state: (i) the type of privilege you claim; (ii) the nature of the document (e.g. letter, memorandum, notes, etc.); (iii) its date; (iv) its author(s) and recipient(s), if any; and (v) the identity of each and every person, other than the identified author(s) or recipient(s), who was sent or provided with the document or a portion of the document.

DEFINITIONS

3. 4. "LGD" refers to LG Display Co., Ltd. (formerly known as LG.Philips LCD Co., Ltd.) and includes (a) any of its divisions, departments, offices, subsidiaries, agents; (b) all companies, corporations, or partnerships that are predecessors-in-interest or successors-in-interest of LGD; (c) all companies through which LGD markets or distributes its LCD Modules in the United States, including without limitation LGDA; (d) all companies, corporations, partnerships, associations, or other business entities which are or have been under common ownership or control, in any manner, with LGD; and (e) each of the present and former officer, directors, employees, agents, consultants, independent contractors, attorneys, representatives, or other persons acting or purporting to act on behalf of the foregoing entity, or on whose behalf the foregoing entity acted or purported to act.

5. "LGDA" refers to LG Display America, Inc. (formerly known as LG.Philips LCD America, Inc.) and includes (a) any of its divisions, departments, offices, subsidiaries, agents; (b) all companies, corporations, or partnerships that are predecessors-in-interest or successors-in-interest of LGDA; (c) all companies through which LGDA markets or distributes its LCD Modules in the United States, including without limitation LGD; (d) all companies, corporations, partnerships, associations, or other business entities which are or have been under common ownership or control, in any manner, with LGDA; and (e) each of the present and former officer, directors, employees, agents, consultants, independent contractors, attorneys, representatives, or other persons acting or purporting to act on behalf of the foregoing entity, or on whose behalf the foregoing entity acted or purported to act.

6. The term "LCD Modules" shall refer to any liquid crystal display ("LCD") module(s) designed, produced, manufactured, sold or offered for sale by, or purchased or otherwise obtained from, or imported on behalf of, LGD and/or LGDA, including but not limited to, modules used in or incorporated into televisions, monitors, computers, mobile phones, portable audio/video devices, automotive devices, industrial, or medical devices, regardless of brand. The term "LCD Modules" also includes but is not limited to any custom or special order modules designed, produced, manufactured, sold or offered for sale by LGD and/or LGDA.

7. The term "LCD Product" means any device or product that contains an LCD Module. An LCD computer monitor, LCD television, laptop computer, a telephone or other portable or handheld product incorporating an LCD module, and equipment that incorporates an LCD Module are examples of LCD Products. This includes all such devices, regardless of brand name.

8. The term “communications” refers to any form of interpersonal communication, including without limitation any transmission, conveyance, or exchange of word, statement, fact, thing, idea, document, instrument, data, or information, by any medium whether written, verbal, non-verbal or any other means, including without limitation electronic communications and e-mails.

9. The term “person” refers to any natural person, company, corporation, partnership, firm, association, government agency or other organization cognizable at law, and its agents and employees.

10. The term “document” shall have the broadest scope permissible under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and includes, for example, all writings, drawings, graphs, charts, photographs, phono-records, schematics, layouts, specifications, data sheets, application notes, marketing presentations and materials, internal presentations, design reports, hardware source code (including, for example, verilog), software source code (including, for example, firmware), pseudocode, timing diagrams, waveform diagrams, test reports, customer complaints and responses, engineering change notices, modification histories, white papers, assembly diagrams, assembly drawings, and assembly instructions, whether or not such documents are claimed to be privileged or confidential, and within the Defendant’s possession, custody, or control as set forth in Rule 34(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. The term “document” also refers, in addition to the original or original copy, to all copies of any kind that contain any alteration, marking, or omission, or which in any other way are not identical to the original or original copy and all drafts or notes made in the preparation of each document. The term “document” shall further refer to and include all electronic data (including, for example, executable files) in whatever form it may exist.

11. The term “thing” encompasses without limitation all tangible things which constitute or contain matters within the scope of Rule 26(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and which are in the possession, custody, or control of the Defendant as set forth in Rule 34(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

12. The term “identify” as used herein shall refer to the following: (a) With respect to a natural person to provide: full name; present or last known business address and telephone number; present or last known residential address and telephone number; and occupation and business position or title held; (b) With respect to a legal or business entity, to provide: full name; place of incorporation or organization (if any); principal place of business; and identification of any representative of such entity who has knowledge relating to any information in connection with which such entity has been identified; (c) With respect to any document or thing, to provide: the date the document or thing bears or was prepared or transmitted; the identity of each person who authored, signed, created or prepared the document or thing; the identity of each addressee and recipient of the document or thing; its title and general character (subject matter); the number of pages in the document; the identity of the persons having possession, custody or control of the original or copies of the document or thing; the present location of the document or thing; and for each document or thing that you contend is privileged, immune or otherwise excludable from discovery, the basis for such claim of privilege, immunity or exclusion (in sufficient detail for the Court to rule on such claim) and whether you would be willing to produce such document or portions of such document under a suitable protective order.

13. The terms “relating to,” “relate to,” and “related to” mean pertaining to, alluding to, responding to, referring to, commenting on, regarding, recording, evidencing, containing, setting forth, reflecting, illustrating, showing, discussing, disclosing, describing, explaining, summarizing, supporting, contradicting, refuting, or concerning, whether directly or indirectly.

14. The use of the singular form of any word includes the plural, and vice versa, as necessary to bring within the scope of the following requests all information which might otherwise be construed to be outside its scope.

15. The terms “or” as well as “and” shall be construed disjunctively as well as conjunctively as necessary to bring within the scope of the following requests all information which might otherwise be construed to be outside its scope.

16. The term “including” as used herein is not be interpreted as limiting the request and to the contrary is intended to indicate specific examples without limitation.

Rule 45, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Subdivisions (c), (d), and (e), as amended on December 1, 2006:

(c) PROTECTION OF PERSONS SUBJECT TO SUBPOENAS.

(1) A party or an attorney responsible for the issuance and service of a subpoena shall take reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to that subpoena. The court on behalf of which the subpoena was issued shall enforce this duty and impose upon the party or attorney in breach of this duty an appropriate sanction, which may include, but is not limited to, lost earnings and a reasonable attorney's fee.

(2) (A) A person commanded to produce and permit inspection, copying, testing, or sampling of designated electronically stored information, books, papers, documents or tangible things, or inspection of premises need not appear in person at the place of production or inspection unless commanded to appear for deposition, hearing or trial.

(B) Subject to paragraph (d)(2) of this rule, a person commanded to produce and permit inspection, copying, testing, or sampling may, within 14 days after service of the subpoena or before the time specified for compliance if such time is less than 14 days after service, serve upon the party or attorney designated in the subpoena written objection to producing any or all of the designated materials or inspection of the premises—or to producing electronically stored information in the form or forms requested. If objection is made, the party serving the subpoena shall not be entitled to inspect, copy, test, or sample the materials or inspect the premises except pursuant to an order of the court by which the subpoena was issued. If objection has been made, the party serving the subpoena may, upon notice to the person commanded to produce, move at any time for an order to compel the production, inspection, copying, testing, or sampling. Such an order to compel shall protect any person who is not a party or an officer of a party from significant expense resulting from the inspection, copying, testing, or sampling commanded.

(3) (A) On timely motion, the court by which a subpoena was issued shall quash or modify the subpoena if it

(i) fails to allow reasonable time for compliance;

(ii) requires a person who is not a party or an officer of a party to travel to a place more than 100 miles from the place where that person resides, is employed or regularly transacts business in person, except that, subject to the provisions of clause (c)(3)(B)(iii) of this rule, such a person may in order to attend trial be commanded to travel from any such place within the state in which the trial is held;

(iii) requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter and no exception or waiver applies; or

(iv) subjects a person to undue burden.

(B) If a subpoena

(i) requires disclosure of a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information, or

(ii) requires disclosure of an unretained expert's opinion or information not describing specific events or occurrences in dispute and resulting from the expert's study made not at the request of any party, or

(iii) requires a person who is not a party or an officer of a party to incur substantial expense to travel more than 100 miles to attend trial, the court may, to protect a person subject

to or affected by the subpoena, quash or modify the subpoena or, if the party in whose behalf the subpoena is issued shows a substantial need for the testimony or material that cannot be otherwise met without undue hardship and assures that the person to whom the subpoena is addressed will be reasonably compensated, the court may order appearance or production only upon specified conditions.

(d) DUTIES IN RESPONDING TO SUBPOENA.

(1) (A) A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents shall produce them as they are kept in the usual course of business or shall organize and label them to correspond with the categories in the demand.

(B) If a subpoena does not specify the form or forms for producing electronically stored information, a person responding to a subpoena must produce the information in a form or forms in which the person ordinarily maintains it or in a form or forms that are reasonably usable.

(C) A person responding to a subpoena need not produce the same electronically stored information in more than one form.

(D) A person responding to a subpoena need not provide discovery of electronically stored information from sources that the person identifies as not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. On motion to compel discovery or to quash, the person from whom discovery is sought must show that the information sought is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. If that showing is made, the court may nonetheless order discovery from such sources if the requesting party shows good cause, considering the limitations of Rule 26(b)(2)(C). The court may specify conditions for the discovery.

(2) (A) When information subject to a subpoena is withheld on a claim that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial-preparation materials, the claim shall be made expressly and shall be supported by a description of the nature of the documents, communications, or things not produced that is sufficient to enable the demanding party to contest the claim.

(B) If information is produced in response to a subpoena that is subject to a claim of privilege or of protection as trial-preparation material, the person making the claim may notify any party that received the information of the claim and the basis for it. After being notified, a party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy the specified information and any copies it has and may not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved. A receiving party may promptly present the information to the court under seal for a determination of the claim. If the receiving party disclosed the information before being notified, it must take reasonable steps to retrieve it. The person who produced the information must preserve the information until the claim is resolved.

(e) CONTEMPT. Failure of any person without adequate excuse to obey a subpoena served upon that person may be deemed a contempt of the court from which the subpoena issued. An adequate cause for failure to obey exists when a subpoena purports to require a nonparty to attend or produce at a place not within the limits provided by clause (ii) of subparagraph (c)(3)(A).

EXHIBIT A

INSTRUCTIONS

1. In responding to the present subpoena, you are required to furnish such information as is available to you that is within your possession custody or control, including but not limited to information in the possession of your agents, representatives, or any other person or persons acting on your behalf.

2. If you have no writings, recordings, documents, or other information responsive to a particular category, please state so in writing. Additionally, if you have documents responsive to a particular category which you claim are privileged, please state so in writing and please produce all non-privileged documents. For each document you claim as privileged, please state: (i) the type of privilege you claim; (ii) the nature of the document (e.g. letter, memorandum, notes, etc.); (iii) its date; (iv) its author(s) and recipient(s), if any; and (v) the identity of each and every person, other than the identified author(s) or recipient(s), who was sent or provided with the document or a portion of the document.

DEFINITIONS

3. "Panasonic Corporation of North America," "you" or "your" refer to Panasonic Corporation of North America and includes (a) any of its divisions, departments, offices, subsidiaries, agents; (b) all companies, corporations, or partnerships that are predecessors-in-interest or successors-in-interest of Panasonic Corporation of North America; (c) all companies, corporations, partnerships, associations, or other business entities which are or have been under common ownership or control, in any manner, with Panasonic Corporation of North America; and (d) each of the present and former officer, directors, employees, agents, consultants, independent contractors, attorneys, representatives, or other persons acting or purporting to act on behalf of the foregoing entity, or on whose behalf the foregoing entity acted or purported to act.

4. "LGD" refers to LG Display Co., Ltd. (formerly known as LG.Philips LCD Co., Ltd.) and includes (a) any of its divisions, departments, offices, subsidiaries, agents; (b) all companies, corporations, or partnerships that are predecessors-in-interest or successors-in-interest of LGD; (c) all companies through which LGD markets or distributes its LCD Modules in the United States, including without limitation LGDA; (d) all companies, corporations, partnerships, associations, or other business entities which are or have been under common ownership or control, in any manner, with LGD; and (e) each of the present and former officer, directors, employees, agents, consultants, independent contractors, attorneys, representatives, or other persons acting or purporting to act on behalf of the foregoing entity, or on whose behalf the foregoing entity acted or purported to act.

5. "LGDA" refers to LG Display America, Inc. (formerly known as LG.Philips LCD America, Inc.) and includes (a) any of its divisions, departments, offices, subsidiaries, agents; (b) all companies, corporations, or partnerships that are predecessors-in-interest or successors-in-interest of LGDA; (c) all companies through which LGDA markets or distributes its LCD Modules in the United States, including without limitation LGD; (d) all companies, corporations, partnerships, associations, or other business entities which are or have been under common ownership or control, in any manner, with LGDA; and (e) each of the present and former officer, directors, employees, agents, consultants, independent contractors, attorneys, representatives, or other persons acting or purporting to act on behalf of the foregoing entity, or on whose behalf the foregoing entity acted or purported to act.

6. The term "LCD Modules" shall refer to any liquid crystal display ("LCD") module(s) designed, produced, manufactured, sold or offered for sale by, or purchased or otherwise obtained from, or imported on behalf of, LGD and/or LGDA, including but not limited to, modules used in or incorporated into televisions, monitors, computers, mobile phones, portable audio/video devices, automotive devices, industrial, or medical devices, regardless of brand. The term "LCD Modules" also includes but is not limited to any custom or special order modules designed, produced, manufactured, sold or offered for sale by LGD and/or LGDA.

7. The term "LCD Product" means any device or product that contains an LCD Module. An LCD computer monitor, LCD television, laptop computer, a telephone or other portable or handheld product incorporating an LCD module, and equipment that incorporates an LCD Module are examples of LCD Products. This includes all such devices, regardless of brand name.

8. The term "communications" refers to any form of interpersonal communication, including without limitation any transmission, conveyance, or exchange of word, statement, fact, thing, idea, document, instrument, data, or information, by any medium whether written, verbal, non-verbal or any other means, including without limitation electronic communications and e-mails.

9. The term "person" refers to any natural person, company, corporation, partnership, firm, association, government agency or other organization cognizable at law, and its agents and employees.

10. The term "document" shall have the broadest scope permissible under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and includes, for example, all writings, drawings, graphs, charts, photographs, phono-records, schematics, layouts, specifications, data sheets, application notes, marketing presentations and materials, internal presentations, design reports, hardware source code (including, for example, verilog), software source code (including, for example, firmware), pseudocode, timing diagrams, waveform diagrams, test reports, customer complaints and responses, engineering change notices, modification histories, white papers, assembly diagrams, assembly drawings, and assembly instructions, whether or not such documents are claimed to be privileged or confidential, and within the Defendant's possession, custody, or control as set forth in Rule 34(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. The term "document" also refers, in addition to the original or original copy, to all copies of any kind that contain any alteration, marking, or omission, or which in any other way are not identical to the original or original copy and all drafts or notes made in the preparation of each document. The term "document" shall further refer to and include all electronic data (including, for example, executable files) in whatever form it may exist.

11. The term “thing” encompasses without limitation all tangible things which constitute or contain matters within the scope of Rule 26(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and which are in the possession, custody, or control of the Defendant as set forth in Rule 34(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

12. The term “identify” as used herein shall refer to the following: (a) With respect to a natural person to provide: full name; present or last known business address and telephone number; present or last known residential address and telephone number; and occupation and business position or title held; (b) With respect to a legal or business entity, to provide: full name; place of incorporation or organization (if any); principal place of business; and identification of any representative of such entity who has knowledge relating to any information in connection with which such entity has been identified; (c) With respect to any document or thing, to provide: the date the document or thing bears or was prepared or transmitted; the identity of each person who authored, signed, created or prepared the document or thing; the identity of each addressee and recipient of the document or thing; its title and general character (subject matter); the number of pages in the document; the identity of the persons having possession, custody or control of the original or copies of the document or thing; the present location of the document or thing; and for each document or thing that you contend is privileged, immune or otherwise excludable from discovery, the basis for such claim of privilege, immunity or exclusion (in sufficient detail for the Court to rule on such claim) and whether you would be willing to produce such document or portions of such document under a suitable protective order.

13. The terms “relating to,” “relate to,” and “related to” mean pertaining to, alluding to, responding to, referring to, commenting on, regarding, recording, evidencing, containing, setting forth, reflecting, illustrating, showing, discussing, disclosing, describing, explaining, summarizing, supporting, contradicting, refuting, or concerning, whether directly or indirectly.

14. The use of the singular form of any word includes the plural, and vice versa, as necessary to bring within the scope of the following requests all information which might otherwise be construed to be outside its scope.

15. The terms “or” as well as “and” shall be construed disjunctively as well as conjunctively as necessary to bring within the scope of the following requests all information which might otherwise be construed to be outside its scope.

16. The term “including” as used herein is not be interpreted as limiting the request and to the contrary is intended to indicate specific examples without limitation.

Rule 45, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Subdivisions (c), (d), and (e), as amended on December 1, 2006:

(c) PROTECTION OF PERSONS SUBJECT TO SUBPOENAS.

(1) A party or an attorney responsible for the issuance and service of a subpoena shall take reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to that subpoena. The court on behalf of which the subpoena was issued shall enforce this duty and impose upon the party or attorney in breach of this duty an appropriate sanction, which may include, but is not limited to, lost earnings and a reasonable attorney's fee.

(2) (A) A person commanded to produce and permit inspection, copying, testing, or sampling of designated electronically stored information, books, papers, documents or tangible things, or inspection of premises need not appear in person at the place of production or inspection unless commanded to appear for deposition, hearing or trial.

(B) Subject to paragraph (d)(2) of this rule, a person commanded to produce and permit inspection, copying, testing, or sampling may, within 14 days after service of the subpoena or before the time specified for compliance if such time is less than 14 days after service, serve upon the party or attorney designated in the subpoena written objection to producing any or all of the designated materials or inspection of the premises — or to producing electronically stored information in the form or forms requested. If objection is made, the party serving the subpoena shall not be entitled to inspect, copy, test, or sample the materials or inspect the premises except pursuant to an order of the court by which the subpoena was issued. If objection has been made, the party serving the subpoena may, upon notice to the person commanded to produce, move at any time for an order to compel the production, inspection, copying, testing, or sampling. Such an order to compel shall protect any person who is not a party or an officer of a party from significant expense resulting from the inspection, copying, testing, or sampling commanded.

(3) (A) On timely motion, the court by which a subpoena was issued shall quash or modify the subpoena if it

(i) fails to allow reasonable time for compliance;

(ii) requires a person who is not a party or an officer of a party to travel to a place more than 100 miles from the place where that person resides, is employed or regularly transacts business in person, except that, subject to the provisions of clause (c)(3)(B)(iii) of this rule, such a person may in order to attend trial be commanded to travel from any such place within the state in which the trial is held;

(iii) requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter and no exception or waiver applies; or

(iv) subjects a person to undue burden.

(B) If a subpoena

(i) requires disclosure of a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information, or

(ii) requires disclosure of an unretained expert's opinion or information not describing specific events or occurrences in dispute and resulting from the expert's study made not at the request of any party, or

(iii) requires a person who is not a party or an officer of a party to incur substantial expense to travel more than 100 miles to attend trial, the court may, to protect a person subject

to or affected by the subpoena, quash or modify the subpoena or, if the party in whose behalf the subpoena is issued shows a substantial need for the testimony or material that cannot be otherwise met without undue hardship and assures that the person to whom the subpoena is addressed will be reasonably compensated, the court may order appearance or production only upon specified conditions.

(d) DUTIES IN RESPONDING TO SUBPOENA.

(1) (A) A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents shall produce them as they are kept in the usual course of business or shall organize and label them to correspond with the categories in the demand.

(B) If a subpoena does not specify the form or forms for producing electronically stored information, a person responding to a subpoena must produce the information in a form or forms in which the person ordinarily maintains it or in a form or forms that are reasonably usable.

(C) A person responding to a subpoena need not produce the same electronically stored information in more than one form.

(D) A person responding to a subpoena need not provide discovery of electronically stored information from sources that the person identifies as not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. On motion to compel discovery or to quash, the person from whom discovery is sought must show that the information sought is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. If that showing is made, the court may nonetheless order discovery from such sources if the requesting party shows good cause, considering the limitations of Rule 26(b)(2)(C). The court may specify conditions for the discovery.

(2) (A) When information subject to a subpoena is withheld on a claim that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial-preparation materials, the claim shall be made expressly and shall be supported by a description of the nature of the documents, communications, or things not produced that is sufficient to enable the demanding party to contest the claim.

(B) If information is produced in response to a subpoena that is subject to a claim of privilege or of protection as trial-preparation materials, the person making the claim may notify any party that received the information of the claim and the basis for it. After being notified, a party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy the specified information and any copies it has and may not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved. A receiving party may promptly present the information to the court under seal for a determination of the claim. If the receiving party disclosed the information before being notified, it must take reasonable steps to retrieve it. The person who produced the information must preserve the information until the claim is resolved.

(e) CONTEMPT. Failure of any person without adequate excuse to obey a subpoena served upon that person may be deemed a contempt of the court from which the subpoena issued. An adequate cause for failure to obey exists when a subpoena purports to require a nonparty to attend or produce at a place not within the limits provided by clause (ii) of subparagraph (c)(3)(A).

EXHIBIT A

INSTRUCTIONS

1. In responding to the present subpoena, you are required to furnish such information as is available to you that is within your possession custody or control, including but not limited to information in the possession of your agents, representatives, or any other person or persons acting on your behalf.

2. If you have no writings, recordings, documents, or other information responsive to a particular category, please state so in writing. Additionally, if you have documents responsive to a particular category which you claim are privileged, please state so in writing and please produce all non-privileged documents. For each document you claim as privileged, please state: (i) the type of privilege you claim; (ii) the nature of the document (e.g. letter, memorandum, notes, etc.); (iii) its date; (iv) its author(s) and recipient(s), if any; and (v) the identity of each and every person, other than the identified author(s) or recipient(s), who was sent or provided with the document or a portion of the document.

6. The term "LCD Modules" shall refer to any liquid crystal display ("LCD") module(s) designed, produced, manufactured, sold or offered for sale by, or purchased or otherwise obtained from, or imported on behalf of, LGD and/or LGDA, including but not limited to, modules used in or incorporated into televisions, monitors, computers, mobile phones, portable audio/video devices, automotive devices, industrial, or medical devices, regardless of brand. The term "LCD Modules" also includes but is not limited to any custom or special order modules designed, produced, manufactured, sold or offered for sale by LGD and/or LGDA.

7. The term “LCD Product” means any device or product that contains an LCD Module. An LCD computer monitor, LCD television, laptop computer, a telephone or other portable or handheld product incorporating an LCD module, and equipment that incorporates an LCD Module are examples of LCD Products. This includes all such devices, regardless of brand name.

8. The term “communications” refers to any form of interpersonal communication, including without limitation any transmission, conveyance, or exchange of word, statement, fact, thing, idea, document, instrument, data, or information, by any medium whether written, verbal, non-verbal or any other means, including without limitation electronic communications and e-mails.

9. The term “person” refers to any natural person, company, corporation, partnership, firm, association, government agency or other organization cognizable at law, and its agents and employees.

10. The term “document” shall have the broadest scope permissible under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and includes, for example, all writings, drawings, graphs, charts, photographs, phono-records, schematics, layouts, specifications, data sheets, application notes, marketing presentations and materials, internal presentations, design reports, hardware source code (including, for example, verilog), software source code (including, for example, firmware), pseudocode, timing diagrams, waveform diagrams, test reports, customer complaints and responses, engineering change notices, modification histories, white papers, assembly diagrams, assembly drawings, and assembly instructions, whether or not such documents are claimed to be privileged or confidential, and within the Defendant’s possession, custody, or control as set forth in Rule 34(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. The term “document” also refers, in addition to the original or original copy, to all copies of any kind that contain any alteration, marking, or omission, or which in any other way are not identical to the original or original copy and all drafts or notes made in the preparation of each document. The term “document” shall further refer to and include all electronic data (including, for example, executable files) in whatever form it may exist.

11. The term “thing” encompasses without limitation all tangible things which constitute or contain matters within the scope of Rule 26(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and which are in the possession, custody, or control of the Defendant as set forth in Rule 34(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

12. The term “identify” as used herein shall refer to the following: (a) With respect to a natural person to provide: full name; present or last known business address and telephone number; present or last known residential address and telephone number; and occupation and business position or title held; (b) With respect to a legal or business entity, to provide: full name; place of incorporation or organization (if any); principal place of business; and identification of any representative of such entity who has knowledge relating to any information in connection with which such entity has been identified; (c) With respect to any document or thing, to provide: the date the document or thing bears or was prepared or transmitted; the identity of each person who authored, signed, created or prepared the document or thing; the identity of each addressee and recipient of the document or thing; its title and general character (subject matter); the number of pages in the document; the identity of the persons having possession, custody or control of the original or copies of the document or thing; the present location of the document or thing; and for each document or thing that you contend is privileged, immune or otherwise excludable from discovery, the basis for such claim of privilege, immunity or exclusion (in sufficient detail for the Court to rule on such claim) and whether you would be willing to produce such document or portions of such document under a suitable protective order.

13. The terms “relating to,” “relate to,” and “related to” mean pertaining to, alluding to, responding to, referring to, commenting on, regarding, recording, evidencing, containing, setting forth, reflecting, illustrating, showing, discussing, disclosing, describing, explaining, summarizing, supporting, contradicting, refuting, or concerning, whether directly or indirectly.

14. The use of the singular form of any word includes the plural, and vice versa, as necessary to bring within the scope of the following requests all information which might otherwise be construed to be outside its scope.

15. The terms “or” as well as “and” shall be construed disjunctively as well as conjunctively as necessary to bring within the scope of the following requests all information which might otherwise be construed to be outside its scope.

16. The term “including” as used herein is not be interpreted as limiting the request and to the contrary is intended to indicate specific examples without limitation.

Rule 45, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Subdivisions (c), (d), and (e), as amended on December 1, 2006:

(c) PROTECTION OF PERSONS SUBJECT TO SUBPOENAS.

(1) A party or an attorney responsible for the issuance and service of a subpoena shall take reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to that subpoena. The court on behalf of which the subpoena was issued shall enforce this duty and impose upon the party or attorney in breach of this duty an appropriate sanction, which may include, but is not limited to, lost earnings and a reasonable attorney's fee.

(2) (A) A person commanded to produce and permit inspection, copying, testing, or sampling of designated electronically stored information, books, papers, documents or tangible things, or inspection of premises need not appear in person at the place of production or inspection unless commanded to appear for deposition, hearing or trial.

(B) Subject to paragraph (d)(2) of this rule, a person commanded to produce and permit inspection, copying, testing, or sampling may, within 14 days after service of the subpoena or before the time specified for compliance if such time is less than 14 days after service, serve upon the party or attorney designated in the subpoena written objection to producing any or all of the designated materials or inspection of the premises — or to producing electronically stored information in the form or forms requested. If objection is made, the party serving the subpoena shall not be entitled to inspect, copy, test, or sample the materials or inspect the premises except pursuant to an order of the court by which the subpoena was issued. If objection has been made, the party serving the subpoena may, upon notice to the person commanded to produce, move at any time for an order to compel the production, inspection, copying, testing, or sampling. Such an order to compel shall protect any person who is not a party or an officer of a party from significant expense resulting from the inspection, copying, testing, or sampling commanded.

(3) (A) On timely motion, the court by which a subpoena was issued shall quash or modify the subpoena if it

(i) fails to allow reasonable time for compliance;

(ii) requires a person who is not a party or an officer of a party to travel to a place more than 100 miles from the place where that person resides, is employed or regularly transacts business in person, except that, subject to the provisions of clause (c)(3)(B)(iii) of this rule, such a person may in order to attend trial be commanded to travel from any such place within the state in which the trial is held;

(iii) requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter and no exception or waiver applies; or

(iv) subjects a person to undue burden.

(B) If a subpoena

(i) requires disclosure of a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information, or

(ii) requires disclosure of an unretained expert's opinion or information not describing specific events or occurrences in dispute and resulting from the expert's study made not at the request of any party, or

(iii) requires a person who is not a party or an officer of a party to incur substantial expense to travel more than 100 miles to attend trial, the court may, to protect a person subject

to or affected by the subpoena, quash or modify the subpoena or, if the party in whose behalf the subpoena is issued shows a substantial need for the testimony or material that cannot be otherwise met without undue hardship and assures that the person to whom the subpoena is addressed will be reasonably compensated, the court may order appearance or production only upon specified conditions.

(d) DUTIES IN RESPONDING TO SUBPOENA.

(1) (A) A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents shall produce them as they are kept in the usual course of business or shall organize and label them to correspond with the categories in the demand.

(B) If a subpoena does not specify the form or forms for producing electronically stored information, a person responding to a subpoena must produce the information in a form or forms in which the person ordinarily maintains it or in a form or forms that are reasonably usable.

(C) A person responding to a subpoena need not produce the same electronically stored information in more than one form.

(D) A person responding to a subpoena need not provide discovery of electronically stored information from sources that the person identifies as not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. On motion to compel discovery or to quash, the person from whom discovery is sought must show that the information sought is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. If that showing is made, the court may nonetheless order discovery from such sources if the requesting party shows good cause, considering the limitations of Rule 26(b)(2)(C). The court may specify conditions for the discovery.

(2) (A) When information subject to a subpoena is withheld on a claim that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial-preparation materials, the claim shall be made expressly and shall be supported by a description of the nature of the documents, communications, or things not produced that is sufficient to enable the demanding party to contest the claim.

(B) If information is produced in response to a subpoena that is subject to a claim of privilege or of protection as trial-preparation material, the person making the claim may notify any party that received the information of the claim and the basis for it. After being notified, a party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy the specified information and any copies it has and may not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved. A receiving party may promptly present the information to the court under seal for a determination of the claim. If the receiving party disclosed the information before being notified, it must take reasonable steps to retrieve it. The person who produced the information must preserve the information until the claim is resolved.

(e) CONTEMPT. Failure of any person without adequate excuse to obey a subpoena served upon that person may be deemed a contempt of the court from which the subpoena issued. An adequate cause for failure to obey exists when a subpoena purports to require a nonparty to attend or produce at a place not within the limits provided by clause (ii) of subparagraph (c)(3)(A).

EXHIBIT A

INSTRUCTIONS

1. In responding to the present subpoena, you are required to furnish such information as is available to you that is within your possession custody or control, including but not limited to information in the possession of your agents, representatives, or any other person or persons acting on your behalf.

2. If you have no writings, recordings, documents, or other information responsive to a particular category, please state so in writing. Additionally, if you have documents responsive to a particular category which you claim are privileged, please state so in writing and please produce all non-privileged documents. For each document you claim as privileged, please state: (i) the type of privilege you claim; (ii) the nature of the document (e.g. letter, memorandum, notes, etc.); (iii) its date; (iv) its author(s) and recipient(s), if any; and (v) the identity of each and every person, other than the identified author(s) or recipient(s), who was sent or provided with the document or a portion of the document.

DEFINITIONS

3. "Quanta Computer USA, Inc.," "you" or "your" refer to Quanta Computer USA, Inc. and includes (a) any of its divisions, departments, offices, subsidiaries, agents; (b) all companies, corporations, or partnerships that are predecessors-in-interest or successors-in-interest of Quanta Computer USA, Inc.; (c) all companies, corporations, partnerships, associations, or other business entities which are or have been under common ownership or control, in any manner, with Quanta Computer USA, Inc.; and (d) each of the present and former officer, directors, employees, agents, consultants, independent contractors, attorneys, representatives, or other persons acting or purporting to act on behalf of the foregoing entity, or on whose behalf the foregoing entity acted or purported to act.

4. "LGD" refers to LG Display Co., Ltd. (formerly known as LG.Philips LCD Co., Ltd.) and includes (a) any of its divisions, departments, offices, subsidiaries, agents; (b) all companies, corporations, or partnerships that are predecessors-in-interest or successors-in-interest of LGD; (c) all companies through which LGD markets or distributes its LCD Modules in the United States, including without limitation LGDA; (d) all companies, corporations, partnerships, associations, or other business entities which are or have been under common ownership or control, in any manner, with LGD; and (e) each of the present and former officer, directors, employees, agents, consultants, independent contractors, attorneys, representatives, or other persons acting or purporting to act on behalf of the foregoing entity, or on whose behalf the foregoing entity acted or purported to act.

5. "LGDA" refers to LG Display America, Inc. (formerly known as LG.Philips LCD America, Inc.) and includes (a) any of its divisions, departments, offices, subsidiaries, agents; (b) all companies, corporations, or partnerships that are predecessors-in-interest or successors-in-interest of LGDA; (c) all companies through which LGDA markets or distributes its LCD Modules in the United States, including without limitation LGD; (d) all companies, corporations, partnerships, associations, or other business entities which are or have been under common ownership or control, in any manner, with LGDA; and (e) each of the present and former officer, directors, employees, agents, consultants, independent contractors, attorneys, representatives, or other persons acting or purporting to act on behalf of the foregoing entity, or on whose behalf the foregoing entity acted or purported to act.

6. The term "LCD Modules" shall refer to any liquid crystal display ("LCD") module(s) designed, produced, manufactured, sold or offered for sale by, or purchased or otherwise obtained from, or imported on behalf of, LGD and/or LGDA, including but not limited to, modules used in or incorporated into televisions, monitors, computers, mobile phones, portable audio/video devices, automotive devices, industrial, or medical devices, regardless of brand. The term "LCD Modules" also includes but is not limited to any custom or special order modules designed, produced, manufactured, sold or offered for sale by LGD and/or LGDA.

7. The term “LCD Product” means any device or product that contains an LCD Module. An LCD computer monitor, LCD television, laptop computer, a telephone or other portable or handheld product incorporating an LCD module, and equipment that incorporates an LCD Module are examples of LCD Products. This includes all such devices, regardless of brand name.

8. 9. The term “person” refers to any natural person, company, corporation, partnership, firm, association, government agency or other organization cognizable at law, and its agents and employees.

10. The term “document” shall have the broadest scope permissible under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and includes, for example, all writings, drawings, graphs, charts, photographs, phono-records, schematics, layouts, specifications, data sheets, application notes, marketing presentations and materials, internal presentations, design reports, hardware source code (including, for example, verilog), software source code (including, for example, firmware), pseudocode, timing diagrams, waveform diagrams, test reports, customer complaints and responses, engineering change notices, modification histories, white papers, assembly diagrams, assembly drawings, and assembly instructions, whether or not such documents are claimed to be privileged or confidential, and within the Defendant’s possession, custody, or control as set forth in Rule 34(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. The term “document” also refers, in addition to the original or original copy, to all copies of any kind that contain any alteration, marking, or omission, or which in any other way are not identical to the original or original copy and all drafts or notes made in the preparation of each document. The term “document” shall further refer to and include all electronic data (including, for example, executable files) in whatever form it may exist.

11. The term “thing” encompasses without limitation all tangible things which constitute or contain matters within the scope of Rule 26(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and which are in the possession, custody, or control of the Defendant as set forth in Rule 34(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

12. The term “identify” as used herein shall refer to the following: (a) With respect to a natural person to provide: full name; present or last known business address and telephone number; present or last known residential address and telephone number; and occupation and business position or title held; (b) With respect to a legal or business entity, to provide: full name; place of incorporation or organization (if any); principal place of business; and identification of any representative of such entity who has knowledge relating to any information in connection with which such entity has been identified; (c) With respect to any document or thing, to provide: the date the document or thing bears or was prepared or transmitted; the identity of each person who authored, signed, created or prepared the document or thing; the identity of each addressee and recipient of the document or thing; its title and general character (subject matter); the number of pages in the document; the identity of the persons having possession, custody or control of the original or copies of the document or thing; the present location of the document or thing; and for each document or thing that you contend is privileged, immune or otherwise excludable from discovery, the basis for such claim of privilege, immunity or exclusion (in sufficient detail for the Court to rule on such claim) and whether you would be willing to produce such document or portions of such document under a suitable protective order.

13. The terms “relating to,” “relate to,” and “related to” mean pertaining to, alluding to, responding to, referring to, commenting on, regarding, recording, evidencing, containing, setting forth, reflecting, illustrating, showing, discussing, disclosing, describing, explaining, summarizing, supporting, contradicting, refuting, or concerning, whether directly or indirectly.

14. The use of the singular form of any word includes the plural, and vice versa, as necessary to bring within the scope of the following requests all information which might otherwise be construed to be outside its scope.

15. The terms “or” as well as “and” shall be construed disjunctively as well as conjunctively as necessary to bring within the scope of the following requests all information which might otherwise be construed to be outside its scope.

16. The term “including” as used herein is not be interpreted as limiting the request and to the contrary is intended to indicate specific examples without limitation.

Rule 45, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Subdivisions (c), (d), and (e), as amended on December 1, 2006:

(c) PROTECTION OF PERSONS SUBJECT TO SUBPOENAS.

(1) A party or an attorney responsible for the issuance and service of a subpoena shall take reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to that subpoena. The court on behalf of which the subpoena was issued shall enforce this duty and impose upon the party or attorney in breach of this duty an appropriate sanction, which may include, but is not limited to, lost earnings and a reasonable attorney's fee.

(2) (A) A person commanded to produce and permit inspection, copying, testing, or sampling of designated electronically stored information, books, papers, documents or tangible things, or inspection of premises need not appear in person at the place of production or inspection unless commanded to appear for deposition, hearing or trial.

(B) Subject to paragraph (d)(2) of this rule, a person commanded to produce and permit inspection, copying, testing, or sampling may, within 14 days after service of the subpoena or before the time specified for compliance if such time is less than 14 days after service, serve upon the party or attorney designated in the subpoena written objection to producing any or all of the designated materials or inspection of the premises — or to producing electronically stored information in the form or forms requested. If objection is made, the party serving the subpoena shall not be entitled to inspect, copy, test, or sample the materials or inspect the premises except pursuant to an order of the court by which the subpoena was issued. If objection has been made, the party serving the subpoena may, upon notice to the person commanded to produce, move at any time for an order to compel the production, inspection, copying, testing, or sampling. Such an order to compel shall protect any person who is not a party or an officer of a party from significant expense resulting from the inspection, copying, testing, or sampling commanded.

(3) (A) On timely motion, the court by which a subpoena was issued shall quash or modify the subpoena if it

(i) fails to allow reasonable time for compliance;

(ii) requires a person who is not a party or an officer of a party to travel to a place more than 100 miles from the place where that person resides, is employed or regularly transacts business in person, except that, subject to the provisions of clause (c)(3)(B)(iii) of this rule, such a person may in order to attend trial be commanded to travel from any such place within the state in which the trial is held;

(iii) requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter and no exception or waiver applies; or

(iv) subjects a person to undue burden.

(B) If a subpoena

(i) requires disclosure of a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information, or

(ii) requires disclosure of an unretained expert's opinion or information not describing specific events or occurrences in dispute and resulting from the expert's study made not at the request of any party, or

(iii) requires a person who is not a party or an officer of a party to incur substantial expense to travel more than 100 miles to attend trial, the court may, to protect a person subject to or affected by the subpoena, quash or modify the subpoena or, if the party in whose behalf the subpoena is issued shows a substantial need for the testimony or material that cannot be otherwise met without undue hardship and assures that the person to whom the subpoena is addressed will be reasonably compensated, the court may order appearance or production only upon specified conditions.

(d) DUTIES IN RESPONDING TO SUBPOENA.

(1) (A) A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents shall produce them as they are kept in the usual course of business or shall organize and label them to correspond with the categories in the demand.

(B) If a subpoena does not specify the form or forms for producing electronically stored information, a person responding to a subpoena must produce the information in a form or forms in which the person ordinarily maintains it or in a form or forms that are reasonably usable.

(C) A person responding to a subpoena need not produce the same electronically stored information in more than one form.

(D) A person responding to a subpoena need not provide discovery of electronically stored information from sources that the person identifies as not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. On motion to compel discovery or to quash, the person from whom discovery is sought must show that the information sought is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. If that showing is made, the court may nonetheless order discovery from such sources if the requesting party shows good cause, considering the limitations of Rule 26(b)(2)(C). The court may specify conditions for the discovery.

(2) (A) When information subject to a subpoena is withheld on a claim that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial-preparation materials, the claim shall be made expressly and shall be supported by a description of the nature of the documents, communications, or things not produced that is sufficient to enable the demanding party to contest the claim.

(B) If information is produced in response to a subpoena that is subject to a claim of privilege or of protection as trial-preparation material, the person making the claim may notify any party that received the information of the claim and the basis for it. After being notified, a party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy the specified information and any copies it has and may not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved. A receiving party may promptly present the information to the court under seal for a determination of the claim. If the receiving party disclosed the information before being notified, it must take reasonable steps to retrieve it. The person who produced the information must preserve the information until the claim is resolved.

(e) CONTEMPT. Failure of any person without adequate excuse to obey a subpoena served upon that person may be deemed a contempt of the court from which the subpoena issued. An adequate cause for failure to obey exists when a subpoena purports to require a nonparty to attend or produce at a place not within the limits provided by clause (ii) of subparagraph (c)(3)(A).

EXHIBIT A

INSTRUCTIONS

1. In responding to the present subpoena, you are required to furnish such information as is available to you that is within your possession custody or control, including but not limited to information in the possession of your agents, representatives, or any other person or persons acting on your behalf.

2. If you have no writings, recordings, documents, or other information responsive to a particular category, please state so in writing. Additionally, if you have documents responsive to a particular category which you claim are privileged, please state so in writing and please produce all non-privileged documents. For each document you claim as privileged, please state: (i) the type of privilege you claim; (ii) the nature of the document (e.g. letter, memorandum, notes, etc.); (iii) its date; (iv) its author(s) and recipient(s), if any; and (v) the identity of each and every person, other than the identified author(s) or recipient(s), who was sent or provided with the document or a portion of the document.

DEFINITIONS

3. "Teledyne Licensing, LLC," "you" or "your" refer to Teledyne Licensing, LLC and includes (a) any of its divisions, departments, offices, subsidiaries, agents; (b) all companies, corporations, or partnerships that are predecessors-in-interest or successors-in-interest of Teledyne Licensing, LLC; (c) all companies, corporations, partnerships, associations, or other business entities which are or have been under common ownership or control, in any manner, with Teledyne Licensing, LLC; and (d) each of the present and former officer, directors, employees, agents, consultants, independent contractors, attorneys, representatives, or other persons acting or purporting to act on behalf of the foregoing entity, or on whose behalf the foregoing entity acted or purported to act.

4. "LGD" refers to LG Display Co., Ltd. (formerly known as LG.Philips LCD Co., Ltd.) and includes (a) any of its divisions, departments, offices, subsidiaries, agents; (b) all companies, corporations, or partnerships that are predecessors-in-interest or successors-in-interest of LGD; (c) all companies through which LGD markets or distributes its LCD Modules in the United States, including without limitation LGDA; (d) all companies, corporations, partnerships, associations, or other business entities which are or have been under common ownership or control, in any manner, with LGD; and (e) each of the present and former officer, directors, employees, agents, consultants, independent contractors, attorneys, representatives, or other persons acting or purporting to act on behalf of the foregoing entity, or on whose behalf the foregoing entity acted or purported to act.

5. "LGDA" refers to LG Display America, Inc. (formerly known as LG.Philips LCD America, Inc.) and includes (a) any of its divisions, departments, offices, subsidiaries, agents; (b) all companies, corporations, or partnerships that are predecessors-in-interest or successors-in-interest of LGDA; (c) all companies through which LGDA markets or distributes its LCD Modules in the United States, including without limitation LGD; (d) all companies, corporations, partnerships, associations, or other business entities which are or have been under common ownership or control, in any manner, with LGDA; and (e) each of the present and former officer, directors, employees, agents, consultants, independent contractors, attorneys, representatives, or other persons acting or purporting to act on behalf of the foregoing entity, or on whose behalf the foregoing entity acted or purported to act.

6. The term "LCD Modules" shall refer to any liquid crystal display ("LCD") module(s) designed, produced, manufactured, sold or offered for sale by, or purchased or otherwise obtained from, or imported on behalf of, LGD and/or LGDA, including but not limited to, modules used in or incorporated into televisions, monitors, computers, mobile phones, portable audio/video devices, automotive devices, industrial, or medical devices, regardless of brand. The term "LCD Modules" also includes but is not limited to any custom or special order modules designed, produced, manufactured, sold or offered for sale by LGD and/or LGDA.

7. The term “LCD Product” means any device or product that contains an LCD Module. An LCD computer monitor, LCD television, laptop computer, a telephone or other portable or handheld product incorporating an LCD module, and equipment that incorporates an LCD Module are examples of LCD Products. This includes all such devices, regardless of brand name.

8. The term “communications” refers to any form of interpersonal communication, including without limitation any transmission, conveyance, or exchange of word, statement, fact, thing, idea, document, instrument, data, or information, by any medium whether written, verbal, non-verbal or any other means, including without limitation electronic communications and e-mails.

9. The term “person” refers to any natural person, company, corporation, partnership, firm, association, government agency or other organization cognizable at law, and its agents and employees.

10. The term “document” shall have the broadest scope permissible under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and includes, for example, all writings, drawings, graphs, charts, photographs, phono-records, schematics, layouts, specifications, data sheets, application notes, marketing presentations and materials, internal presentations, design reports, hardware source code (including, for example, verilog), software source code (including, for example, firmware), pseudocode, timing diagrams, waveform diagrams, test reports, customer complaints and responses, engineering change notices, modification histories, white papers, assembly diagrams, assembly drawings, and assembly instructions, whether or not such documents are claimed to be privileged or confidential, and within the Defendant’s possession, custody, or control as set forth in Rule 34(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. The term “document” also refers, in addition to the original or original copy, to all copies of any kind that contain any alteration, marking, or omission, or which in any other way are not identical to the original or original copy and all drafts or notes made in the preparation of each document. The term “document” shall further refer to and include all electronic data (including, for example, executable files) in whatever form it may exist.

11. The term “thing” encompasses without limitation all tangible things which constitute or contain matters within the scope of Rule 26(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and which are in the possession, custody, or control of the Defendant as set forth in Rule 34(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

12. The term “identify” as used herein shall refer to the following: (a) With respect to a natural person to provide: full name; present or last known business address and telephone number; present or last known residential address and telephone number; and occupation and business position or title held; (b) With respect to a legal or business entity, to provide: full name; place of incorporation or organization (if any); principal place of business; and identification of any representative of such entity who has knowledge relating to any information in connection with which such entity has been identified; (c) With respect to any document or thing, to provide: the date the document or thing bears or was prepared or transmitted; the identity of each person who authored, signed, created or prepared the document or thing; the identity of each addressee and recipient of the document or thing; its title and general character (subject matter); the number of pages in the document; the identity of the persons having possession, custody or control of the original or copies of the document or thing; the present location of the document or thing; and for each document or thing that you contend is privileged, immune or otherwise excludable from discovery, the basis for such claim of privilege, immunity or exclusion (in sufficient detail for the Court to rule on such claim) and whether you would be willing to produce such document or portions of such document under a suitable protective order.

13. The terms “relating to,” “relate to,” and “related to” mean pertaining to, alluding to, responding to, referring to, commenting on, regarding, recording, evidencing, containing, setting forth, reflecting, illustrating, showing, discussing, disclosing, describing, explaining, summarizing, supporting, contradicting, refuting, or concerning, whether directly or indirectly.

14. The use of the singular form of any word includes the plural, and vice versa, as necessary to bring within the scope of the following requests all information which might otherwise be construed to be outside its scope.

15. The terms "or" as well as "and" shall be construed disjunctively as well as conjunctively as necessary to bring within the scope of the following requests all information which might otherwise be construed to be outside its scope.

16. The term "including" as used herein is not be interpreted as limiting the request and to the contrary is intended to indicate specific examples without limitation.

Rule 45, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Subdivisions (c), (d), and (e), as amended on December 1, 2006:

(c) PROTECTION OF PERSONS SUBJECT TO SUBPOENAS.

(1) A party or an attorney responsible for the issuance and service of a subpoena shall take reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to that subpoena. The court on behalf of which the subpoena was issued shall enforce this duty and impose upon the party or attorney in breach of this duty an appropriate sanction, which may include, but is not limited to, lost earnings and a reasonable attorney's fee.

(2) (A) A person commanded to produce and permit inspection, copying, testing, or sampling of designated electronically stored information, books, papers, documents or tangible things, or inspection of premises need not appear in person at the place of production or inspection unless commanded to appear for deposition, hearing or trial.

(B) Subject to paragraph (d)(2) of this rule, a person commanded to produce and permit inspection, copying, testing, or sampling may, within 14 days after service of the subpoena or before the time specified for compliance if such time is less than 14 days after service, serve upon the party or attorney designated in the subpoena written objection to producing any or all of the designated materials or inspection of the premises — or to producing electronically stored information in the form or forms requested. If objection is made, the party serving the subpoena shall not be entitled to inspect, copy, test, or sample the materials or inspect the premises except pursuant to an order of the court by which the subpoena was issued. If objection has been made, the party serving the subpoena may, upon notice to the person commanded to produce, move at any time for an order to compel the production, inspection, copying, testing, or sampling. Such an order to compel shall protect any person who is not a party or an officer of a party from significant expense resulting from the inspection, copying, testing, or sampling commanded.

(3) (A) On timely motion, the court by which a subpoena was issued shall quash or modify the subpoena if it

(i) fails to allow reasonable time for compliance;

(ii) requires a person who is not a party or an officer of a party to travel to a place more than 100 miles from the place where that person resides, is employed or regularly transacts business in person, except that, subject to the provisions of clause (c)(3)(B)(iii) of this rule, such a person may in order to attend trial be commanded to travel from any such place within the state in which the trial is held;

(iii) requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter and no exception or waiver applies; or

(iv) subjects a person to undue burden.

(B) If a subpoena

(i) requires disclosure of a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information, or

(ii) requires disclosure of an unretained expert's opinion or information not describing specific events or occurrences in dispute and resulting from the expert's study made not at the request of any party, or

(iii) requires a person who is not a party or an officer of a party to incur substantial expense to travel more than 100 miles to attend trial, the court may, to protect a person subject to or affected by the subpoena, quash or modify the subpoena or, if the party in whose behalf the subpoena is issued shows a substantial need for the testimony or material that cannot be otherwise met without undue hardship and assures that the person to whom the subpoena is addressed will be reasonably compensated, the court may order appearance or production only upon specified conditions.

(d) DUTIES IN RESPONDING TO SUBPOENA.

(1) (A) A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents shall produce them as they are kept in the usual course of business or shall organize and label them to correspond with the categories in the demand.

(B) If a subpoena does not specify the form or forms for producing electronically stored information, a person responding to a subpoena must produce the information in a form or forms in which the person ordinarily maintains it or in a form or forms that are reasonably usable.

(C) A person responding to a subpoena need not produce the same electronically stored information in more than one form.

(D) A person responding to a subpoena need not provide discovery of electronically stored information from sources that the person identifies as not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. On motion to compel discovery or to quash, the person from whom discovery is sought must show that the information sought is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. If that showing is made, the court may nonetheless order discovery from such sources if the requesting party shows good cause, considering the limitations of Rule 26(b)(2)(C). The court may specify conditions for the discovery.

(2) (A) When information subject to a subpoena is withheld on a claim that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial-preparation materials, the claim shall be made expressly and shall be supported by a description of the nature of the documents, communications, or things not produced that is sufficient to enable the demanding party to contest the claim.

(B) If information is produced in response to a subpoena that is subject to a claim of privilege or of protection as trial-preparation material, the person making the claim may notify any party that received the information of the claim and the basis for it. After being notified, a party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy the specified information and any copies it has and may not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved. A receiving party may promptly present the information to the court under seal for a determination of the claim. If the receiving party disclosed the information before being notified, it must take reasonable steps to retrieve it. The person who produced the information must preserve the information until the claim is resolved.

(e) CONTEMPT. Failure of any person without adequate excuse to obey a subpoena served upon that person may be deemed a contempt of the court from which the subpoena issued. An adequate cause for failure to obey exists when a subpoena purports to require a nonparty to attend or produce at a place not within the limits provided by clause (ii) of subparagraph (c)(3)(A).

EXHIBIT A

INSTRUCTIONS

1. In responding to the present subpoena, you are required to furnish such information as is available to you that is within your possession custody or control, including but not limited to information in the possession of your agents, representatives, or any other person or persons acting on your behalf.

2. If you have no writings, recordings, documents, or other information responsive to a particular category, please state so in writing. Additionally, if you have documents responsive to a particular category which you claim are privileged, please state so in writing and please produce all non-privileged documents. For each document you claim as privileged, please state: (i) the type of privilege you claim; (ii) the nature of the document (e.g. letter, memorandum, notes, etc.); (iii) its date; (iv) its author(s) and recipient(s), if any; and (v) the identity of each and every person, other than the identified author(s) or recipient(s), who was sent or provided with the document or a portion of the document.

DEFINITIONS

3. Teledyne Lighting and Display Products, Inc.," "you" or "your" refer to Teledyne Lighting and Display Products, Inc. and includes (a) any of its divisions, departments, offices, subsidiaries, agents; (b) all companies, corporations, or partnerships that are predecessors-in-interest or successors-in-interest of Teledyne Lighting and Display Products, Inc.; (c) all companies, corporations, partnerships, associations, or other business entities which are or have been under common ownership or control, in any manner, with Teledyne Lighting and Display Products, Inc.; and (d) each of the present and former officer, directors, employees, agents, consultants, independent contractors, attorneys, representatives, or other persons acting or purporting to act on behalf of the foregoing entity, or on whose behalf the foregoing entity acted or purported to act.

4. "LGD" refers to LG Display Co., Ltd. (formerly known as LG.Philips LCD Co., Ltd.) and includes (a) any of its divisions, departments, offices, subsidiaries, agents; (b) all companies, corporations, or partnerships that are predecessors-in-interest or successors-in-interest of LGD; (c) all companies through which LGD markets or distributes its LCD Modules in the United States, including without limitation LGDA; (d) all companies, corporations, partnerships, associations, or other business entities which are or have been under common ownership or control, in any manner, with LGD; and (e) each of the present and former officer, directors, employees, agents, consultants, independent contractors, attorneys, representatives, or other persons acting or purporting to act on behalf of the foregoing entity, or on whose behalf the foregoing entity acted or purported to act.

5. "LGDA" refers to LG Display America, Inc. (formerly known as LG.Philips LCD America, Inc.) and includes (a) any of its divisions, departments, offices, subsidiaries, agents; (b) all companies, corporations, or partnerships that are predecessors-in-interest or successors-in-interest of LGDA; (c) all companies through which LGDA markets or distributes its LCD Modules in the United States, including without limitation LGD; (d) all companies, corporations, partnerships, associations, or other business entities which are or have been under common ownership or control, in any manner, with LGDA; and (e) each of the present and former officer, directors, employees, agents, consultants, independent contractors, attorneys, representatives, or other persons acting or purporting to act on behalf of the foregoing entity, or on whose behalf the foregoing entity acted or purported to act.

6. The term "LCD Modules" shall refer to any liquid crystal display ("LCD") module(s) designed, produced, manufactured, sold or offered for sale by, or purchased or otherwise obtained from, or imported on behalf of, LGD and/or LGDA, including but not limited to, modules used in or incorporated into televisions, monitors, computers, mobile phones, portable audio/video devices, automotive devices, industrial, or medical devices, regardless of brand. The term "LCD Modules" also includes but is not limited to any custom or special order modules designed, produced, manufactured, sold or offered for sale by LGD and/or LGDA.

7. The term “LCD Product” means any device or product that contains an LCD Module. An LCD computer monitor, LCD television, laptop computer, a telephone or other portable or handheld product incorporating an LCD module, and equipment that incorporates an LCD Module are examples of LCD Products. This includes all such devices, regardless of brand name.

8. The term “communications” refers to any form of interpersonal communication, including without limitation any transmission, conveyance, or exchange of word, statement, fact, thing, idea, document, instrument, data, or information, by any medium whether written, verbal, non-verbal or any other means, including without limitation electronic communications and e-mails.

9. The term “person” refers to any natural person, company, corporation, partnership, firm, association, government agency or other organization cognizable at law, and its agents and employees.

10. The term “document” shall have the broadest scope permissible under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and includes, for example, all writings, drawings, graphs, charts, photographs, phono-records, schematics, layouts, specifications, data sheets, application notes, marketing presentations and materials, internal presentations, design reports, hardware source code (including, for example, verilog), software source code (including, for example, firmware), pseudocode, timing diagrams, waveform diagrams, test reports, customer complaints and responses, engineering change notices, modification histories, white papers, assembly diagrams, assembly drawings, and assembly instructions, whether or not such documents are claimed to be privileged or confidential, and within the Defendant’s possession, custody, or control as set forth in Rule 34(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. The term “document” also refers, in addition to the original or original copy, to all copies of any kind that contain any alteration, marking, or omission, or which in any other way are not identical to the original or original copy and all drafts or notes made in the preparation of each document. The term “document” shall further refer to and include all electronic data (including, for example, executable files) in whatever form it may exist.

11. The term “thing” encompasses without limitation all tangible things which constitute or contain matters within the scope of Rule 26(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and which are in the possession, custody, or control of the Defendant as set forth in Rule 34(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

12. The term “identify” as used herein shall refer to the following: (a) With respect to a natural person to provide: full name; present or last known business address and telephone number; present or last known residential address and telephone number; and occupation and business position or title held; (b) With respect to a legal or business entity, to provide: full name; place of incorporation or organization (if any); principal place of business; and identification of any representative of such entity who has knowledge relating to any information in connection with which such entity has been identified; (c) With respect to any document or thing, to provide: the date the document or thing bears or was prepared or transmitted; the identity of each person who authored, signed, created or prepared the document or thing; the identity of each addressee and recipient of the document or thing; its title and general character (subject matter); the number of pages in the document; the identity of the persons having possession, custody or control of the original or copies of the document or thing; the present location of the document or thing; and for each document or thing that you contend is privileged, immune or otherwise excludable from discovery, the basis for such claim of privilege, immunity or exclusion (in sufficient detail for the Court to rule on such claim) and whether you would be willing to produce such document or portions of such document under a suitable protective order.

13. The terms “relating to,” “relate to,” and “related to” mean pertaining to, alluding to, responding to, referring to, commenting on, regarding, recording, evidencing, containing, setting forth, reflecting, illustrating, showing, discussing, disclosing, describing, explaining, summarizing, supporting, contradicting, refuting, or concerning, whether directly or indirectly.

14. The use of the singular form of any word includes the plural, and vice versa, as necessary to bring within the scope of the following requests all information which might otherwise be construed to be outside its scope.

15. The terms “or” as well as “and” shall be construed disjunctively as well as conjunctively as necessary to bring within the scope of the following requests all information which might otherwise be construed to be outside its scope.

16. The term “including” as used herein is not be interpreted as limiting the request and to the contrary is intended to indicate specific examples without limitation.

Rule 45, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Subdivisions (c), (d), and (e), as amended on December 1, 2006:

(c) PROTECTION OF PERSONS SUBJECT TO SUBPOENAS.

(1) A party or an attorney responsible for the issuance and service of a subpoena shall take reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to that subpoena. The court on behalf of which the subpoena was issued shall enforce this duty and impose upon the party or attorney in breach of this duty an appropriate sanction, which may include, but is not limited to, lost earnings and a reasonable attorney's fee.

(2) (A) A person commanded to produce and permit inspection, copying, testing, or sampling of designated electronically stored information, books, papers, documents or tangible things, or inspection of premises need not appear in person at the place of production or inspection unless commanded to appear for deposition, hearing or trial.

(B) Subject to paragraph (d)(2) of this rule, a person commanded to produce and permit inspection, copying, testing, or sampling may, within 14 days after service of the subpoena or before the time specified for compliance if such time is less than 14 days after service, serve upon the party or attorney designated in the subpoena written objection to producing any or all of the designated materials or inspection of the premises — or to producing electronically stored information in the form or forms requested. If objection is made, the party serving the subpoena shall not be entitled to inspect, copy, test, or sample the materials or inspect the premises except pursuant to an order of the court by which the subpoena was issued. If objection has been made, the party serving the subpoena may, upon notice to the person commanded to produce, move at any time for an order to compel the production, inspection, copying, testing, or sampling. Such an order to compel shall protect any person who is not a party or an officer of a party from significant expense resulting from the inspection, copying, testing, or sampling commanded.

(3) (A) On timely motion, the court by which a subpoena was issued shall quash or modify the subpoena if it

(i) fails to allow reasonable time for compliance;

(ii) requires a person who is not a party or an officer of a party to travel to a place more than 100 miles from the place where that person resides, is employed or regularly transacts business in person, except that, subject to the provisions of clause (c)(3)(B)(iii) of this rule, such a person may in order to attend trial be commanded to travel from any such place within the state in which the trial is held;

(iii) requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter and no exception or waiver applies; or

(iv) subjects a person to undue burden.

(B) If a subpoena

(i) requires disclosure of a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information, or

(ii) requires disclosure of an unretained expert's opinion or information not describing specific events or occurrences in dispute and resulting from the expert's study made not at the request of any party, or

(iii) requires a person who is not a party or an officer of a party to incur substantial expense to travel more than 100 miles to attend trial, the court may, to protect a person subject to or affected by the subpoena, quash or modify the subpoena or, if the party in whose behalf the subpoena is issued shows a substantial need for the testimony or material that cannot be otherwise met without undue hardship and assures that the person to whom the subpoena is addressed will be reasonably compensated, the court may order appearance or production only upon specified conditions.

(d) DUTIES IN RESPONDING TO SUBPOENA.

(1) (A) A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents shall produce them as they are kept in the usual course of business or shall organize and label them to correspond with the categories in the demand.

(B) If a subpoena does not specify the form or forms for producing electronically stored information, a person responding to a subpoena must produce the information in a form or forms in which the person ordinarily maintains it or in a form or forms that are reasonably usable.

(C) A person responding to a subpoena need not produce the same electronically stored information in more than one form.

(D) A person responding to a subpoena need not provide discovery of electronically stored information from sources that the person identifies as not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. On motion to compel discovery or to quash, the person from whom discovery is sought must show that the information sought is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. If that showing is made, the court may nonetheless order discovery from such sources if the requesting party shows good cause, considering the limitations of Rule 26(b)(2)(C). The court may specify conditions for the discovery.

(2) (A) When information subject to a subpoena is withheld on a claim that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial-preparation materials, the claim shall be made expressly and shall be supported by a description of the nature of the documents, communications, or things not produced that is sufficient to enable the demanding party to contest the claim.

(B) If information is produced in response to a subpoena that is subject to a claim of privilege or of protection as trial-preparation material, the person making the claim may notify any party that received the information of the claim and the basis for it. After being notified, a party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy the specified information and any copies it has and may not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved. A receiving party may promptly present the information to the court under seal for a determination of the claim. If the receiving party disclosed the information before being notified, it must take reasonable steps to retrieve it. The person who produced the information must preserve the information until the claim is resolved.

(e) CONTEMPT. Failure of any person without adequate excuse to obey a subpoena served upon that person may be deemed a contempt of the court from which the subpoena issued. An adequate cause for failure to obey exists when a subpoena purports to require a nonparty to attend or produce at a place not within the limits provided by clause (ii) of subparagraph (c)(3)(A).

EXHIBIT A

INSTRUCTIONS

1. In responding to the present subpoena, you are required to furnish such information as is available to you that is within your possession custody or control, including but not limited to information in the possession of your agents, representatives, or any other person or persons acting on your behalf.

2. If you have no writings, recordings, documents, or other information responsive to a particular category, please state so in writing. Additionally, if you have documents responsive to a particular category which you claim are privileged, please state so in writing and please produce all non-privileged documents. For each document you claim as privileged, please state: (i) the type of privilege you claim; (ii) the nature of the document (e.g. letter, memorandum, notes, etc.); (iii) its date; (iv) its author(s) and recipient(s), if any; and (v) the identity of each and every person, other than the identified author(s) or recipient(s), who was sent or provided with the document or a portion of the document.

DEFINITIONS

3. "Teledyne Scientific & Imaging, LLC," "you" or "your" refer to Teledyne Scientific & Imaging, LLC and includes (a) any of its divisions, departments, offices, subsidiaries, agents; (b) all companies, corporations, or partnerships that are predecessors-in-interest or successors-in-interest of Teledyne Scientific & Imaging, LLC; (c) all companies, corporations, partnerships, associations, or other business entities which are or have been under common ownership or control, in any manner, with Teledyne Scientific & Imaging, LLC; and (d) each of the present and former officer, directors, employees, agents, consultants, independent contractors, attorneys, representatives, or other persons acting or purporting to act on behalf of the foregoing entity, or on whose behalf the foregoing entity acted or purported to act.

4. "LGD" refers to LG Display Co., Ltd. (formerly known as LG.Philips LCD Co., Ltd.) and includes (a) any of its divisions, departments, offices, subsidiaries, agents; (b) all companies, corporations, or partnerships that are predecessors-in-interest or successors-in-interest of LGD; (c) all companies through which LGD markets or distributes its LCD Modules in the United States, including without limitation LGDA; (d) all companies, corporations, partnerships, associations, or other business entities which are or have been under common ownership or control, in any manner, with LGD; and (e) each of the present and former officer, directors, employees, agents, consultants, independent contractors, attorneys, representatives, or other persons acting or purporting to act on behalf of the foregoing entity, or on whose behalf the foregoing entity acted or purported to act.

5. "LGDA" refers to LG Display America, Inc. (formerly known as LG.Philips LCD America, Inc.) and includes (a) any of its divisions, departments, offices, subsidiaries, agents; (b) all companies, corporations, or partnerships that are predecessors-in-interest or successors-in-interest of LGDA; (c) all companies through which LGDA markets or distributes its LCD Modules in the United States, including without limitation LGD; (d) all companies, corporations, partnerships, associations, or other business entities which are or have been under common ownership or control, in any manner, with LGDA; and (e) each of the present and former officer, directors, employees, agents, consultants, independent contractors, attorneys, representatives, or other persons acting or purporting to act on behalf of the foregoing entity, or on whose behalf the foregoing entity acted or purported to act.

6. The term "LCD Modules" shall refer to any liquid crystal display ("LCD") module(s) designed, produced, manufactured, sold or offered for sale by, or purchased or otherwise obtained from, or imported on behalf of, LGD and/or LGDA, including but not limited to, modules used in or incorporated into televisions, monitors, computers, mobile phones, portable audio/video devices, automotive devices, industrial, or medical devices, regardless of brand. The term "LCD Modules" also includes but is not limited to any custom or special order modules designed, produced, manufactured, sold or offered for sale by LGD and/or LGDA.

7. The term “LCD Product” means any device or product that contains an LCD Module. An LCD computer monitor, LCD television, laptop computer, a telephone or other portable or handheld product incorporating an LCD module, and equipment that incorporates an LCD Module are examples of LCD Products. This includes all such devices, regardless of brand name.

8. The term “communications” refers to any form of interpersonal communication, including without limitation any transmission, conveyance, or exchange of word, statement, fact, thing, idea, document, instrument, data, or information, by any medium whether written, verbal, non-verbal or any other means, including without limitation electronic communications and e-mails.

9. The term “person” refers to any natural person, company, corporation, partnership, firm, association, government agency or other organization cognizable at law, and its agents and employees.

10. The term “document” shall have the broadest scope permissible under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and includes, for example, all writings, drawings, graphs, charts, photographs, phono-records, schematics, layouts, specifications, data sheets, application notes, marketing presentations and materials, internal presentations, design reports, hardware source code (including, for example, verilog), software source code (including, for example, firmware), pseudocode, timing diagrams, waveform diagrams, test reports, customer complaints and responses, engineering change notices, modification histories, white papers, assembly diagrams, assembly drawings, and assembly instructions, whether or not such documents are claimed to be privileged or confidential, and within the Defendant’s possession, custody, or control as set forth in Rule 34(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. The term “document” also refers, in addition to the original or original copy, to all copies of any kind that contain any alteration, marking, or omission, or which in any other way are not identical to the original or original copy and all drafts or notes made in the preparation of each document. The term “document” shall further refer to and include all electronic data (including, for example, executable files) in whatever form it may exist.

11. The term “thing” encompasses without limitation all tangible things which constitute or contain matters within the scope of Rule 26(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and which are in the possession, custody, or control of the Defendant as set forth in Rule 34(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

12. The term “identify” as used herein shall refer to the following: (a) With respect to a natural person to provide: full name; present or last known business address and telephone number; present or last known residential address and telephone number; and occupation and business position or title held; (b) With respect to a legal or business entity, to provide: full name; place of incorporation or organization (if any); principal place of business; and identification of any representative of such entity who has knowledge relating to any information in connection with which such entity has been identified; (c) With respect to any document or thing, to provide: the date the document or thing bears or was prepared or transmitted; the identity of each person who authored, signed, created or prepared the document or thing; the identity of each addressee and recipient of the document or thing; its title and general character (subject matter); the number of pages in the document; the identity of the persons having possession, custody or control of the original or copies of the document or thing; the present location of the document or thing; and for each document or thing that you contend is privileged, immune or otherwise excludable from discovery, the basis for such claim of privilege, immunity or exclusion (in sufficient detail for the Court to rule on such claim) and whether you would be willing to produce such document or portions of such document under a suitable protective order.

13. The terms “relating to,” “relate to,” and “related to” mean pertaining to, alluding to, responding to, referring to, commenting on, regarding, recording, evidencing, containing, setting forth, reflecting, illustrating, showing, discussing, disclosing, describing, explaining, summarizing, supporting, contradicting, refuting, or concerning, whether directly or indirectly.

14. The use of the singular form of any word includes the plural, and vice versa, as necessary to bring within the scope of the following requests all information which might otherwise be construed to be outside its scope.

15. The terms “or” as well as “and” shall be construed disjunctively as well as conjunctively as necessary to bring within the scope of the following requests all information which might otherwise be construed to be outside its scope.

16. The term “including” as used herein is not be interpreted as limiting the request and to the contrary is intended to indicate specific examples without limitation.

Rule 45, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Subdivisions (c), (d), and (e), as amended on December 1, 2006:

(c) PROTECTION OF PERSONS SUBJECT TO SUBPOENAS.

(1) A party or an attorney responsible for the issuance and service of a subpoena shall take reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to that subpoena. The court on behalf of which the subpoena was issued shall enforce this duty and impose upon the party or attorney in breach of this duty an appropriate sanction, which may include, but is not limited to, lost earnings and a reasonable attorney's fee.

(2) (A) A person commanded to produce and permit inspection, copying, testing, or sampling of designated electronically stored information, books, papers, documents or tangible things, or inspection of premises need not appear in person at the place of production or inspection unless commanded to appear for deposition, hearing or trial.

(B) Subject to paragraph (d)(2) of this rule, a person commanded to produce and permit inspection, copying, testing, or sampling may, within 14 days after service of the subpoena or before the time specified for compliance if such time is less than 14 days after service, serve upon the party or attorney designated in the subpoena written objection to producing any or all of the designated materials or inspection of the premises—or to producing electronically stored information in the form or forms requested. If objection is made, the party serving the subpoena shall not be entitled to inspect, copy, test, or sample the materials or inspect the premises except pursuant to an order of the court by which the subpoena was issued. If objection has been made, the party serving the subpoena may, upon notice to the person commanded to produce, move at any time for an order to compel the production, inspection, copying, testing, or sampling. Such an order to compel shall protect any person who is not a party or an officer of a party from significant expense resulting from the inspection, copying, testing, or sampling commanded.

(3) (A) On timely motion, the court by which a subpoena was issued shall quash or modify the subpoena if it

(i) fails to allow reasonable time for compliance;

(ii) requires a person who is not a party or an officer of a party to travel to a place more than 100 miles from the place where that person resides, is employed or regularly transacts business in person, except that, subject to the provisions of clause (c)(3)(B)(iii) of this rule, such a person may in order to attend trial be commanded to travel from any such place within the state in which the trial is held;

(iii) requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter and no exception or waiver applies; or

(iv) subjects a person to undue burden.

(B) If a subpoena

(i) requires disclosure of a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information, or

(ii) requires disclosure of an unretained expert's opinion or information not describing specific events or occurrences in dispute and resulting from the expert's study made not at the request of any party, or

(iii) requires a person who is not a party or an officer of a party to incur substantial expense to travel more than 100 miles to attend trial, the court may, to protect a person subject to or affected by the subpoena, quash or modify the subpoena or, if the party in whose behalf the subpoena is issued shows a substantial need for the testimony or material that cannot be otherwise met without undue hardship and assures that the person to whom the subpoena is addressed will be reasonably compensated, the court may order appearance or production only upon specified conditions.

(d) DUTIES IN RESPONDING TO SUBPOENA.

(1) (A) A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents shall produce them as they are kept in the usual course of business or shall organize and label them to correspond with the categories in the demand.

(B) If a subpoena does not specify the form or forms for producing electronically stored information, a person responding to a subpoena must produce the information in a form or forms in which the person ordinarily maintains it or in a form or forms that are reasonably usable.

(C) A person responding to a subpoena need not produce the same electronically stored information in more than one form.

(D) A person responding to a subpoena need not provide discovery of electronically stored information from sources that the person identifies as not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. On motion to compel discovery or to quash, the person from whom discovery is sought must show that the information sought is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. If that showing is made, the court may nonetheless order discovery from such sources if the requesting party shows good cause, considering the limitations of Rule 26(b)(2)(C). The court may specify conditions for the discovery.

(2) (A) When information subject to a subpoena is withheld on a claim that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial-preparation materials, the claim shall be made expressly and shall be supported by a description of the nature of the documents, communications, or things not produced that is sufficient to enable the demanding party to contest the claim.

(B) If information is produced in response to a subpoena that is subject to a claim of privilege or of protection as trial-preparation material, the person making the claim may notify any party that received the information of the claim and the basis for it. After being notified, a party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy the specified information and any copies it has and may not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved. A receiving party may promptly present the information to the court under seal for a determination of the claim. If the receiving party disclosed the information before being notified, it must take reasonable steps to retrieve it. The person who produced the information must preserve the information until the claim is resolved.

(e) CONTEMPT. Failure of any person without adequate excuse to obey a subpoena served upon that person may be deemed a contempt of the court from which the subpoena issued. An adequate cause for failure to obey exists when a subpoena purports to require a nonparty to attend or produce at a place not within the limits provided by clause (ii) of subparagraph (c)(3)(A).

EXHIBIT A

INSTRUCTIONS

1. In responding to the present subpoena, you are required to furnish such information as is available to you that is within your possession custody or control, including but not limited to information in the possession of your agents, representatives, or any other person or persons acting on your behalf.

2. If you have no writings, recordings, documents, or other information responsive to a particular category, please state so in writing. Additionally, if you have documents responsive to a particular category which you claim are privileged, please state so in writing and please produce all non-privileged documents. For each document you claim as privileged, please state: (i) the type of privilege you claim; (ii) the nature of the document (e.g. letter, memorandum, notes, etc.); (iii) its date; (iv) its author(s) and recipient(s), if any; and (v) the identity of each and every person, other than the identified author(s) or recipient(s), who was sent or provided with the document or a portion of the document.

DEFINITIONS

3. "Teledyne Technologies, Inc.," "you" or "your" refer to Teledyne Technologies, Inc. and includes (a) any of its divisions, departments, offices, subsidiaries, agents; (b) all companies, corporations, or partnerships that are predecessors-in-interest or successors-in-interest of Teledyne Technologies, Inc.; (c) all companies, corporations, partnerships, associations, or other business entities which are or have been under common ownership or control, in any manner, with Teledyne Technologies, Inc.; and (d) each of the present and former officer, directors, employees, agents, consultants, independent contractors, attorneys, representatives, or other persons acting or purporting to act on behalf of the foregoing entity, or on whose behalf the foregoing entity acted or purported to act.

4. "LGD" refers to LG Display Co., Ltd. (formerly known as LG.Philips LCD Co., Ltd.) and includes (a) any of its divisions, departments, offices, subsidiaries, agents; (b) all companies, corporations, or partnerships that are predecessors-in-interest or successors-in-interest of LGD; (c) all companies through which LGD markets or distributes its LCD Modules in the United States, including without limitation LGDA; (d) all companies, corporations, partnerships, associations, or other business entities which are or have been under common ownership or control, in any manner, with LGD; and (e) each of the present and former officer, directors, employees, agents, consultants, independent contractors, attorneys, representatives, or other persons acting or purporting to act on behalf of the foregoing entity, or on whose behalf the foregoing entity acted or purported to act.

5. "LGDA" refers to LG Display America, Inc. (formerly known as LG.Philips LCD America, Inc.) and includes (a) any of its divisions, departments, offices, subsidiaries, agents; (b) all companies, corporations, or partnerships that are predecessors-in-interest or successors-in-interest of LGDA; (c) all companies through which LGDA markets or distributes its LCD Modules in the United States, including without limitation LGD; (d) all companies, corporations, partnerships, associations, or other business entities which are or have been under common ownership or control, in any manner, with LGDA; and (e) each of the present and former officer, directors, employees, agents, consultants, independent contractors, attorneys, representatives, or other persons acting or purporting to act on behalf of the foregoing entity, or on whose behalf the foregoing entity acted or purported to act.

6. The term "LCD Modules" shall refer to any liquid crystal display ("LCD") module(s) designed, produced, manufactured, sold or offered for sale by, or purchased or otherwise obtained from, or imported on behalf of, LGD and/or LGDA, including but not limited to, modules used in or incorporated into televisions, monitors, computers, mobile phones, portable audio/video devices, automotive devices, industrial, or medical devices, regardless of brand. The term "LCD Modules" also includes but is not limited to any custom or special order modules designed, produced, manufactured, sold or offered for sale by LGD and/or LGDA.

7. The term “LCD Product” means any device or product that contains an LCD Module. An LCD computer monitor, LCD television, laptop computer, a telephone or other portable or handheld product incorporating an LCD module, and equipment that incorporates an LCD Module are examples of LCD Products. This includes all such devices, regardless of brand name.

8. The term “communications” refers to any form of interpersonal communication, including without limitation any transmission, conveyance, or exchange of word, statement, fact, thing, idea, document, instrument, data, or information, by any medium whether written, verbal, non-verbal or any other means, including without limitation electronic communications and e-mails.

9. The term “person” refers to any natural person, company, corporation, partnership, firm, association, government agency or other organization cognizable at law, and its agents and employees.

10. The term “document” shall have the broadest scope permissible under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and includes, for example, all writings, drawings, graphs, charts, photographs, phono-records, schematics, layouts, specifications, data sheets, application notes, marketing presentations and materials, internal presentations, design reports, hardware source code (including, for example, verilog), software source code (including, for example, firmware), pseudocode, timing diagrams, waveform diagrams, test reports, customer complaints and responses, engineering change notices, modification histories, white papers, assembly diagrams, assembly drawings, and assembly instructions, whether or not such documents are claimed to be privileged or confidential, and within the Defendant’s possession, custody, or control as set forth in Rule 34(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. The term “document” also refers, in addition to the original or original copy, to all copies of any kind that contain any alteration, marking, or omission, or which in any other way are not identical to the original or original copy and all drafts or notes made in the preparation of each document. The term “document” shall further refer to and include all electronic data (including, for example, executable files) in whatever form it may exist.

11. The term “thing” encompasses without limitation all tangible things which constitute or contain matters within the scope of Rule 26(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and which are in the possession, custody, or control of the Defendant as set forth in Rule 34(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

12. The term “identify” as used herein shall refer to the following: (a) With respect to a natural person to provide: full name; present or last known business address and telephone number; present or last known residential address and telephone number; and occupation and business position or title held; (b) With respect to a legal or business entity, to provide: full name; place of incorporation or organization (if any); principal place of business; and identification of any representative of such entity who has knowledge relating to any information in connection with which such entity has been identified; (c) With respect to any document or thing, to provide: the date the document or thing bears or was prepared or transmitted; the identity of each person who authored, signed, created or prepared the document or thing; the identity of each addressee and recipient of the document or thing; its title and general character (subject matter); the number of pages in the document; the identity of the persons having possession, custody or control of the original or copies of the document or thing; the present location of the document or thing; and for each document or thing that you contend is privileged, immune or otherwise excludable from discovery, the basis for such claim of privilege, immunity or exclusion (in sufficient detail for the Court to rule on such claim) and whether you would be willing to produce such document or portions of such document under a suitable protective order.

13. The terms “relating to,” “relate to,” and “related to” mean pertaining to, alluding to, responding to, referring to, commenting on, regarding, recording, evidencing, containing, setting forth, reflecting, illustrating, showing, discussing, disclosing, describing, explaining, summarizing, supporting, contradicting, refuting, or concerning, whether directly or indirectly.

14. The use of the singular form of any word includes the plural, and vice versa, as necessary to bring within the scope of the following requests all information which might otherwise be construed to be outside its scope.

15. The terms "or" as well as "and" shall be construed disjunctively as well as conjunctively as necessary to bring within the scope of the following requests all information which might otherwise be construed to be outside its scope.

16. The term "including" as used herein is not be interpreted as limiting the request and to the contrary is intended to indicate specific examples without limitation.
